The Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979

Amended entry in the schedule of monuments

Historic Environment Scotland in exercise of the powers conferred on it by section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979 hereby amends the entry in the statutory schedule of monuments as set out below.

The monument known as Castle Campbell comprises Castle Campbell and an area around it where buried evidence of associated defences, buildings and gardens is expected to survive. The castle developed in several stages between about AD 1200-1600 and is visible today as three ranges of upstanding buildings set around the N, E and S sides of a courtyard. The castle occupies a highly prominent position on a rocky spur of the Ochil Hills at the head of Dollar Glen. It is cut off from the E, W and S by the ravines of the Burn of Sorrow and Burn of Care. It stands about 200m above sea level, looking out over Dollar and the Forth Valley.

The scheduled area is irregular on plan, to include the remains of the castle and an area around it within which evidence for the castle's construction, use and abandonment is expected to survive. The scheduling excludes the above-ground elements of all modern structures, fixtures and fittings, including modern fences, signage, electrical apparatus, lighting, stairs and walkways, barriers, and kitchen fittings.

The monument, which lies in the Parish of Dollar and the County of Clackmannanshire as shown in red on the plan annexed and executed as relative hereto

This entry supersedes the Entry in the Schedule of Monuments for the monument known then as Castle Campbell in respect of the monument dated 20 December 1950.
