The Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979

Amended entry in the schedule of monuments

Historic Environment Scotland in exercise of the powers conferred on it by section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979 hereby amends the entry in the statutory schedule of monuments as set out below.

The monument known as Cnoc Mhic Eoghainn, motte 170m WSW of Ballimore comprises the remains of a motte dating probably to the 12th or 13th century. It is visible as a substantial oval flat-topped mound with the remains of a surrounding ditch around its east, south and west sides. The monument is situated about 30m east of the shore of Loch Fyne at approximately 10m above sea level.

The scheduled area is a circle on plan, 90m in diameter, to include the remains described above and an area around them within which evidence relating to the monument's construction, use and abandonment is expected to survive. The scheduling specifically excludes the above-ground remains of the two walled enclosures and memorial stones to allow for their maintenance.

The monument, which lies in the Parish of Kilfinan and the County of Argyll as shown in red on the plan annexed and executed as relative hereto [redacted]

This entry supersedes the Entry in the Schedule of Monuments for the monument known then as Cnoc Mhic Eoghainn, Mote 340 m. W. of Ballimore as referred to in the Certificate of Service of Notice by the Secretary of State for Scotland in respect of the monument dated 21 August 1974 and recorded in the General Register of Sasines for the County of Argyll on 13 September 1974.

Subscribed by Allan Rutherford, Deputy Head of Designations (Scheduling) with Historic Environment Scotland, at Edinburgh on the 2nd day of March Two thousand and Sixteen, before this witness Edwin Smith, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
