ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Gallowhill, cairns 525m and 555m NE of Wellbank comprises the remains of two cairns dating probably to the Bronze Age (between about 2000 BC and 800 BC). They are visible as low stony circular mounds, some 100m apart and aligned NNW-SSE. The northernmost cairn measures 11m in diameter and the southernmost 13.5m in diameter, with a well-defined kerb of large rounded boulders. The cairns are situated close to the summit of Gallow Hill at around 210m above sea level, with commanding views to the S and E. The scheduled area comprises two circles, the northernmost measuring 25m in diameter and the southernmost 28m in diameter, to include the remains described above and an area around them within which evidence relating to the monument's construction, use and abandonment is expected to survive, as shown in red on the accompanying map. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Tannadice and the County of Angus as shown in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto [redacted] is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

This entry supersedes the Entry in the Schedule of Monuments for the monument known then as Two Stone Circles on Gallow Hill, Cortachy as referred to in the Certificate of Service of Notice by the Commissioners of His Majesty's Works and Public Buildings dated 23 September 1935 and recorded in the General Register of Sasines for the County of Forfar on 14 October 1935.

Subscribed by Olwyn A Owen, Head of Scheduling, Marine and Battlefields with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 31 day of August Two thousand and Fifteen before this witness Christine Kelly, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
