ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Dun Cuilein, dun 210m SW of Frackersaig comprises a dun (a prehistoric defended settlement), likely to date from the Iron Age (between 500 BC and AD 500) or earlier. It comprises a circuit of low, turf-covered drystone walling which encloses an irregular-shaped central area measuring about 25m by 14m. The walling is most obvious in the northern half, where it is reduced to a spread of rubble 2-3m in width. The traces of walling are much slighter in the southern half, where a bank cuts across the interior. The dun is situated on the highest part of a substantial ridge of rock outcrop, within an area of rough grazing, on the W side of the island of Lismore and towards its southern end. The dun is approximately 55m above sea level and about 350m from the sea. It has a southerly outlook overlooking Morvern to the W and the Firth of Lorn to the S and SE. The area to be scheduled is irregular on plan and is bounded by the base of the rock outcrop on which the dun is sited. The scheduled area includes the remains described above and an area around them within which evidence relating to the monument's construction, use and abandonment may survive. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Lismore and Appin and the County of Argyll as shown in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative [redacted] is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

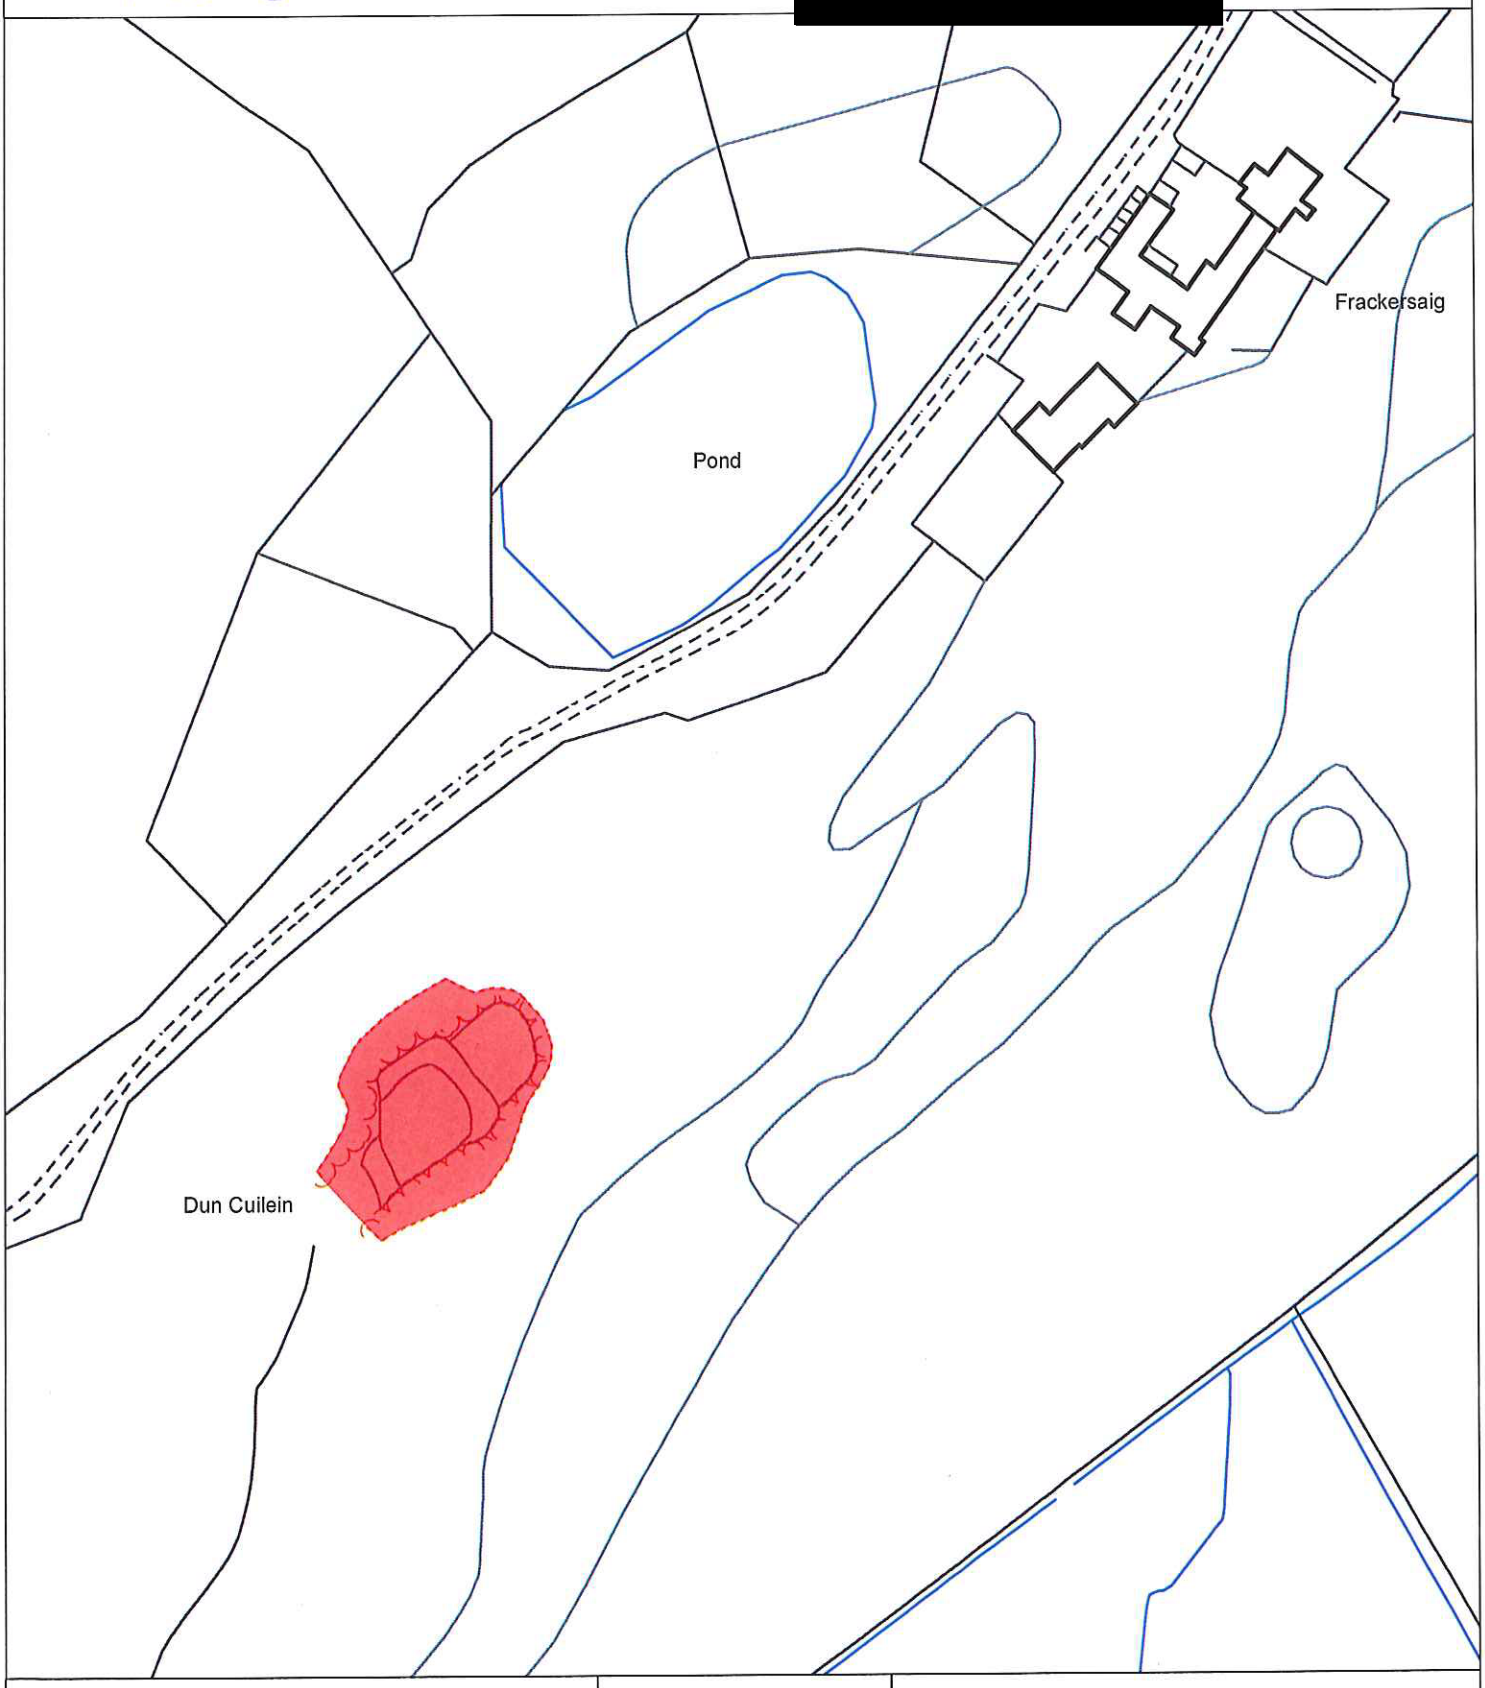

Subscribed by Olwyn A Owen, Head of Scheduling, Marine and Battlefields with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 4th day of February Two thousand and thirteen, before this witness Christine Kelly, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
