THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979 646
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Bogle Walls, fort comprises a later prehistoric defended settlement or fort, the defences of which are visible as upstanding earthen banks and a ditch. It lies around 140m above sea level on the S bank of the River Esk, around 45m from the river. The area to be scheduled is irregular in plan, to include the remains described above and an area around within which evidence relating to the monument's construction, use and abandonment may survive. The scheduled area extends up to, but specifically excludes, the fence that bounds the road to the north-east and the burn to the north-west. The scheduling also excludes the above-ground elements of fences, electricity poles, garden furniture (including bridges) and paths to allow for their maintenance. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Westerkirk and the County of Dumfries as shown in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto [redacted], is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

Subscribed by Malcolm Cooper, Chief Inspector with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 5 day of Feb Two thousand and ten, before this witness Mairi H Davies, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
