THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979 1401
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Too of Nugle, burial mound 500m WSW of Innister, Rousay comprises the remains of a burial mound dating probably to the Bronze Age (between about 2000 and 800 BC). It survives as a low, oval mound of earth and stone, measuring some 12m by 10.5m and standing 0.8m high, surmounted by modern cairn material. Some of the large slabs on its surface may have once formed a cist. The scheduled area is circular on plan, 25m in diameter, to include the remains described above and an area around them within which evidence relating to the monument's construction, use and abandonment is expected to survive. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Rousay and Egilsay and the County of Orkney and Zetland as shown in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto [redacted], is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

This entry supersedes the Entry in the Schedule of Monuments for the monument known then as Too of Nugle, Wasbister as referred to in the Certificate of Service of Notice by the Commissioners of His Majesty's Works and Public Buildings in respect of the monument dated 21 November 1935 and recorded in the General Register of Sasines for the County of Orkney and Zetland on 10 December 1935.

Subscribed by Olwyn A Owen, Head of Scheduling, Marine and Battlefields with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 28th day of August Two thousand and fourteen, before this witness Christine Kelly, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
