THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979 1486
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as South Aittit, church 185m NE of comprises the remains of the former parish church of Rendall, built in 1732, and associated buried deposits. Earlier reports of a Norse hogback stone from this site suggest that the church may occupy the site of an earlier church. The upstanding 18th-century ruin comprises the E gable, which stands approximately 3.7m high, and part of the N wall, with the outline of the S and W walls traceable through the turf. The church stands within an associated burial ground. The monument is situated on the NE coast of mainland Orkney, just N of the Bay of Hinderayre and overlooking Wide Firth at around 5m above sea level. The scheduled area is rectangular on plan to include the remains described above and an area around them within which evidence relating to the monument's construction, use and abandonment is expected to survive. The scheduling specifically excludes all 19th-century and later burial plots and grave-markers and all burial lairs where rights of burial still exist. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Evie and Rendall and the County of Orkney and Zetland as shown in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto and which forms part [redacted] is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

This entry supersedes the Entry in the Schedule of Monuments for the monument known then as the Old Parish Church of Rendall as referred to in the Certificate of Service of Notice by the Minister of Works in respect of the monument dated 31 August 1953 and recorded in the General Register of Sasines for the County of Orkney and Zetland on 21 October 1953.

Subscribed by Olwyn A Owen, Head of Scheduling, Marine and Battlefields with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 3rd day of December Two thousand and fourteen, before this witness Christine Kelly, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
