THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Bridge of Lyon, standing stone 340m SE of comprises a standing stone of prehistoric date, visible as an upstanding monument, and another stone lying nearby which may be associated. The monument lies about 340m SE of Bridge of Lyon and SW of Fortingall, at about 130m OD. The stone which forms part of a prehistoric landscape, with two burial cairns and two cupmarked stones lying within 350m, comprises a block of quartzose schist, deeply riven vertically. Its basal girth is 3.48m and it stands to maximum height of 1.88m. The monument probably relates to ritual activity of Neolithic or Bronze Age date. Some 5m to the NE is a partially buried block, now lying flat, but which may originally have been another standing stone. About 1m of its length is exposed. The area to be scheduled comprises the standing stone and an area around it within which related material may be expected to survive. It is circular measuring 10m in diameter. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Fortingall and the County of Perth as shown outlined in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto [redacted] is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

Subscribed by Frank James Lawrie, Director of Heritage Policy with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 12th day of December Two thousand and one, before this witness Lesley Macdonald, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
