THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979 2030
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Cattapund Knowe, long cairn 570m N of Skeoverick comprises a long cairn built probably in the Neolithic period, between about 4000 and 2500 BC. It is visible as a low linear mound of boulders and smaller stones, about 35m long, 9m wide and 0.6m high, aligned NNE-SSW. Several earth-fast kerb stones are visible on the E side, while a group of large boulders towards the N end suggests the position of a chamber. The cairn stands 45m above sea level on a low rise that gives it prominence in the local landscape. It lies 1.4km inland from the head of the Voe of Browland. The area to be scheduled is irregular on plan, measuring 46m SW-NE by 20m transversely and includes the remains described above and an area around them within which evidence relating to the monument's construction, use and abandonment may survive. The scheduling specifically excludes the above-ground elements of three planticrubs on the SE side of the monument to allow for their maintenance. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Walls and Sandness and the County of Orkney and Zetland as shown in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto [redacted], is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

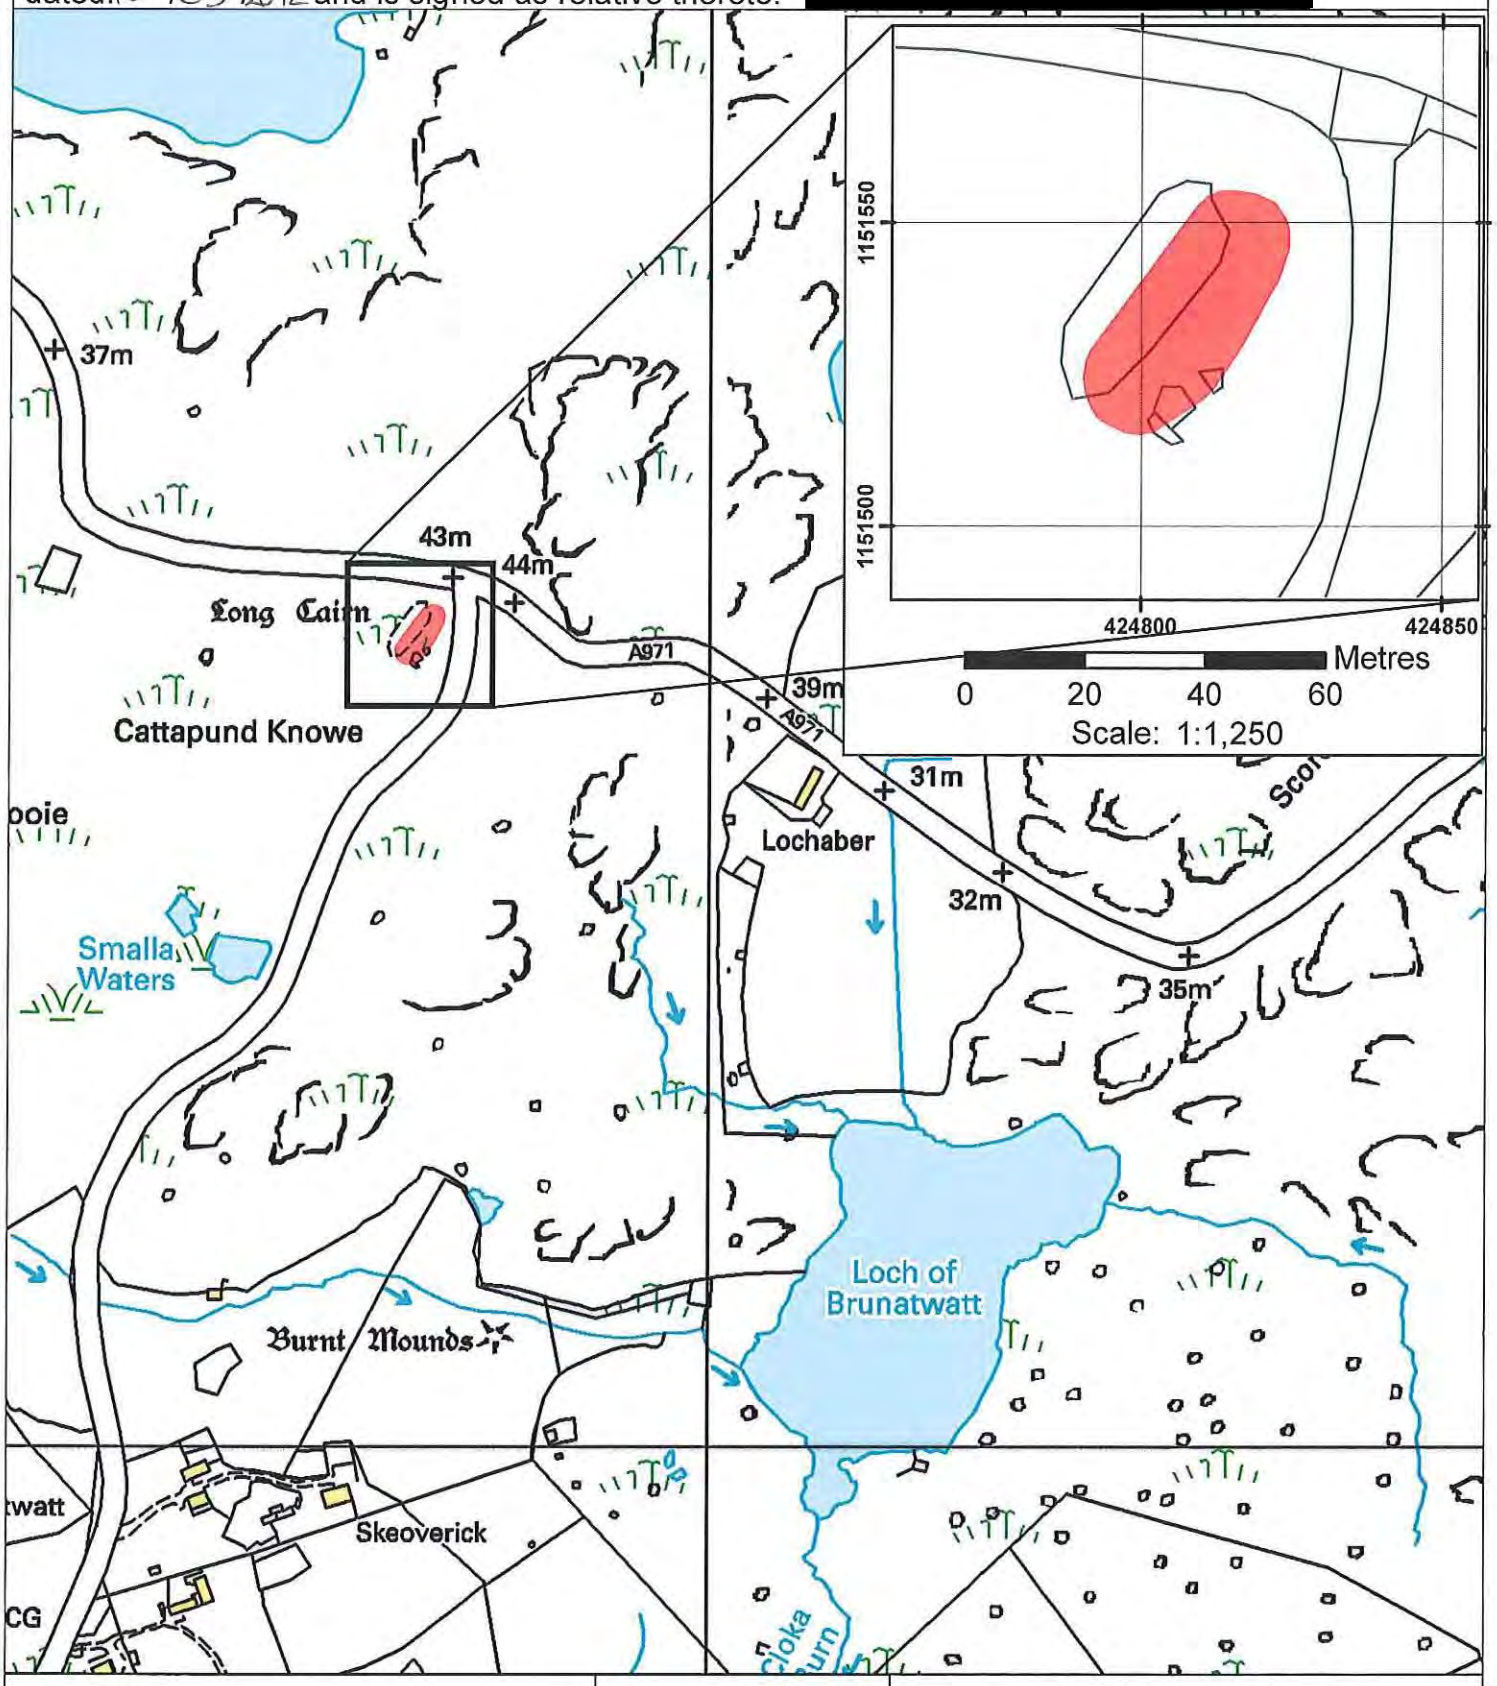

Subscribed by Barbara Cummins, Director of Heritage Management with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 16th day of March Two thousand and twelve, before this witness Victoria Murray, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
