THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979 2058
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Infield, broch 215m SE of comprises a broch of Iron Age date, built probably between 500 BC and AD 200, as well as the remains of a later storehouse and an operational lighthouse dating to 1909. The broch is visible as a small-mounded promontory which has been largely sealed by concrete capping, forming a pad for the lighthouse and a sea defence barrier. The masonry structure of the broch is partly visible in exposed sections. The broch and its associated remains cover an area approximately 20m in diameter. It lies above the high water mark, on a rocky promontory overlooking Firths Voe with views northeast towards Yell. The area to be scheduled is irregular on plan, to include the remains described above and an area around them within which evidence relating to the monument's construction, use and abandonment may survive. The seaward limit of the scheduled area is defined by the mean high water spring mark. The scheduled area specifically excludes the above-ground remains of the storehouse, all concrete ground works, the lighthouse, modern services and modern boundary features, to allow for their maintenance. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Delting and the County of Orkney and Zetland as shown in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto and which forms part of the subjects described in the [redacted] is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

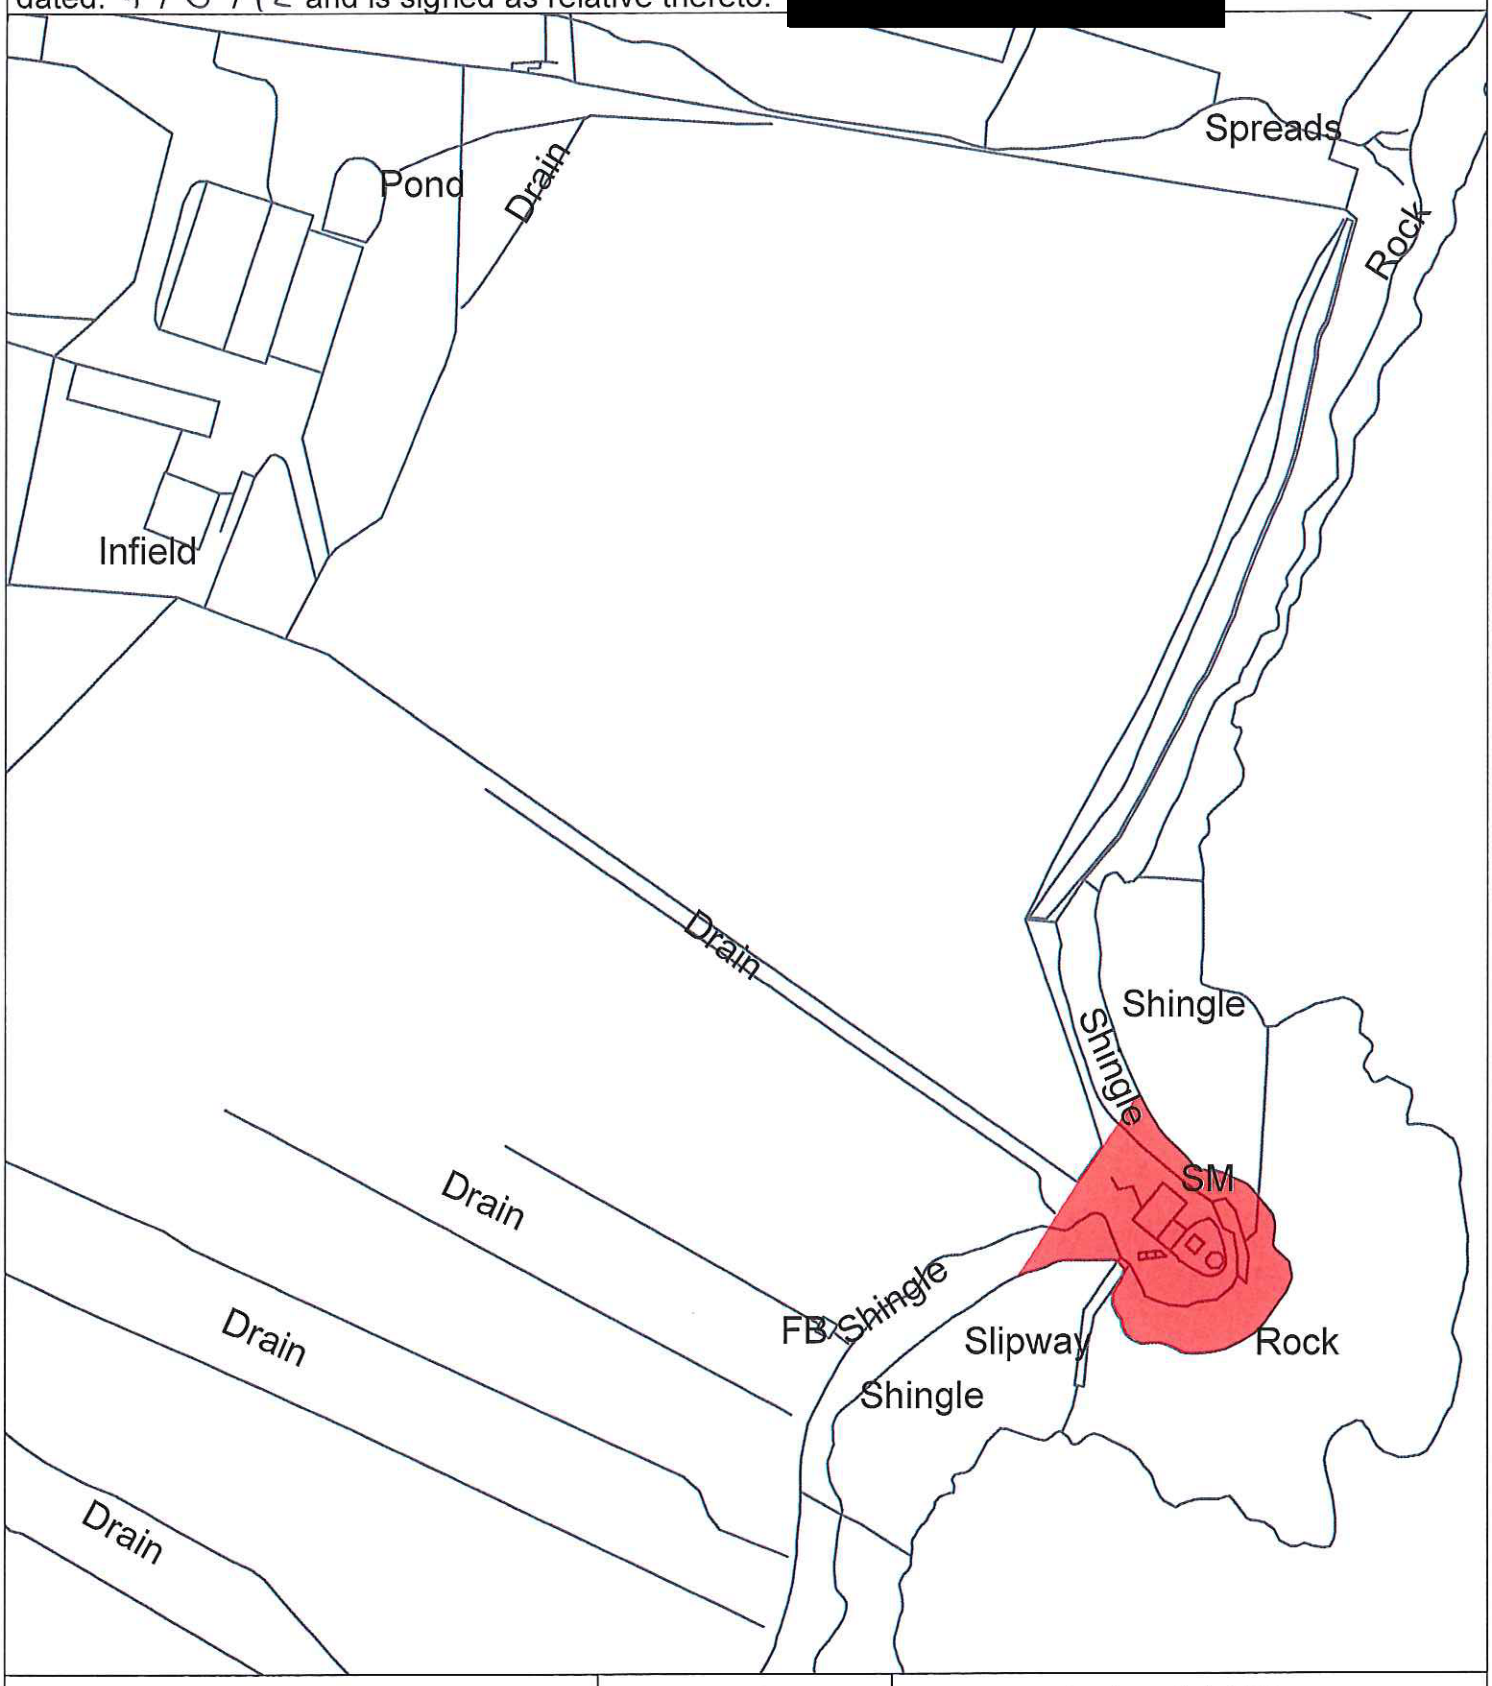

Subscribed by Barbara Cummins, Director of Heritage Management with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 7th day of June Two thousand and twelve, before this witness Victoria Murray, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
