THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979 2126
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Cill an t-Suidhe, burial enclosure 145m S of Newfield comprises the remains of a burial ground and possible chapel site. It survives as a low earthwork bank and external ditch enclosing a sub-circular interior. It is believed to be early Christian in origin and may date from the second half of the first millennium AD. The interior is approximately 40m in diameter. A ditch, 2.5m wide in places, surrounds the burial ground. A later drystone wall bisects the monument WNW to ESE. The burial ground lies on rough grazing land at approximately 30m above sea level. It is located on the E side of the island of Lismore and overlooks the Lynn of Lorn and the Argyll mainland to the SE. The area to be scheduled is circular on plan, measuring 60m in diameter, to include the remains described above and an area around them within which evidence relating to the monument's construction and use may survive. Specifically excluded from the scheduling are the above-ground remains of the drystone wall to allow for its maintenance. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Lismore and Appin and the County of Argyll as shown in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto [redacted], is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

Subscribed by Olwyn Owen, Head of Scheduling, Marine and Battlefields with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 4th day of February Two thousand and thirteen, before this witness Christine Kelly, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
