THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as White Hill, fort comprises the remains of a fort dating from the Iron Age (around 500 BC to AD 500). The monument is situated on the summit of White Hill, with steep drops to the NW, SW and SE. A series of defensive enclosures is visible. The innermost defences comprise two, roughly concentric, palisaded enclosures (stout fences), enclosed by the remains of three defensive ramparts, possibly incomplete. The inner palisade encompasses a regular oval-shaped area. The distance between the inner and outer palisades ranges from 8m to 18m, although the outer palisade can only be traced over half the circuit and is not visible on the N and S arcs. Entrance gaps up to 6m wide are positioned in the centre of the NE and SW sides of both palisaded enclosures. Outwith the palisades lie three incomplete lines of defence. The area to be scheduled includes the remains described and an area around them in which associated evidence may be expected to survive. It is irregular, and measures a maximum of 307m from E to W by 166m transversely. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Broughton, Glenholm and Kilbucho and the County of Peebles as shown outlined in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto
