THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979 3110
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Kildonald Point, fort and cairn 515m SE of Kildonald Cottage comprises a prehistoric round cairn of the Neolithic or Bronze Age, built probably between 4000 and 1000 BC, together with a large prehistoric fort likely to date to the Iron Age (between 500 BC and AD 500). The cairn survives as a substantial, circular stone mound, around 23m in diameter and standing up to 3m high. The fort, some 75m ENE of the cairn, survives as a substantial rectilinear stony bank enclosing an area measuring approximately 55m from NE-SW by 65m transversely. Both monuments are sited in an area of rough grazing and are partly obscured by scrub and woody vegetation. They are located on a coastal headland on the E shore of Kintyre at 15m above sea level. The area to be scheduled is an irregular polygon on plan, to include the remains described above and an area around them within which evidence relating to the monument's construction, use and abandonment may survive. The scheduled area uses the mean high water spring mark as its seaward boundary. Specifically excluded from the scheduling are the above-ground remains of an Ordnance Survey triangulation station to allow for its maintenance. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Campbeltown and the County of Argyll as shown in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto [redacted], is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

This entry supersedes the entry in the Schedule of Monuments for the monument known then as Fort and Cairn situated at Kildonald Point as referred to in the Certificate of Service of Notice by the Secretary of State for Scotland in respect of the monument dated 29 December 1971 and recorded in the General Register of Sasines for the County of Argyll on 20 March 1972.

Subscribed by Olwyn Owen, Head of Scheduling, Marine and Battlefields with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 10th day of May Two thousand and thirteen, before this witness Christine Kelly, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
