THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979 3206
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Antonine Wall, The Bungalow, Roman camp 380m W of comprises the buried remains of a Roman temporary camp, visible as cropmarks, as well as a possible Iron Age enclosure and remains of trenches dug during World War Two. The camp lies wholly within Grangemouth Golf Course and occupies an area of relatively flat ground, with an annexe on the S side of the camp situated on a steep slope. The camp lies around 190m E of Millhall Reservoir. Dating to the mid-second century AD, the camp is associated with the construction of the Antonine Wall, situated around 390m to the N. The W side of the camp is entirely visible, measuring 190m in length and has rounded corners visible at its NW and SW angles. Approximately 140m of the S side of the camp is visible and a small rectangular annexe. Around 50m of the N ditch is visible. On the W and S sides of the camp, where the cropmarks are most clearly defined, the ditch is 2.5-3m wide. Immediately to the SW of the camp is a ring-ditch, interpreted as an Iron-Age enclosure or structure. The area to be scheduled is irregular on plan, to include the remains described above and an area around them within which related material may be expected to be found. The scheduling specifically excludes the upper 300mm of all paths and hardstandings, to allow for their maintenance. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Grangemouth and the County of Stirling as shown in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto

[redacted], is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

Subscribed by Malcolm Cooper, Chief Inspector with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 26 day of November Two thousand and nine, before this witness Mairi H Davies, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
