THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979 3426
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Tom nan Clach, cup & ring marked rock 560m ENE of Hazelbank comprises prehistoric rock art carved on an area of outcropping bedrock. The art includes two cups each with two rings, eight cups with one ring, and over 20 other cups. The rock art was created probably in the early prehistoric period, between about 3500 BC and 1800 BC. The monument lies at 110m above sea level on relatively flat ground part way up steep W-facing slopes that rise above the E shore of Loch Fyne, which is 450m to the NW. The rock outcrop now lies in a forestry plantation, but there were probably long views across the loch to the N and SW from this site when the art was carved. The area to be scheduled is a circle 20m in diameter, centred on the middle of the rock outcrop, to include the remains described above and an area around within which evidence relating to the monument's construction, use and abandonment may survive. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Strachur and the County of Argyll as shown in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto [redacted], is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

Subscribed by Olwyn Owen, Head of Scheduling, Marine and Battlefields with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 14 day of January Two thousand and thirteen, before this witness Christine Kelly, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
