THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979 3675
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Dunning, Roman camp 420m NW of Haughend comprises the remains of a Roman temporary camp surviving as a cropmarked structure and a linear earthwork. The earthwork is visible on the ground as a ditch and bank structure while the remainder is visible only on oblique aerial photographs. The camp is located on gently undulating ground (between 50 and 70m above sea level) under a mixture of cultivated land, deciduous woodland, modern tracks and metalled roads and field/property boundaries. The camp survives as a series of interrupted, linear, cropmarked ditches that when joined together form the outline of a broadly square-shaped enclosure (700m E-W by 675m transversely and enclosing an area of 46.5 hectares). These are the defensive works of a temporary marching camp. The corners of the camp are formed into obtuse angles, despite the sides being broadly parallel. For 130m along the camp's W side in Kincladie Wood, the bank and ditch can be seen on the ground and this includes part of an entrance. The area to be scheduled is irregular on plan, to include the remains described and an area around within which evidence associated with their construction and use may survive. The scheduling specifically excludes the above-ground components of boundary features and the top surface of modern metalled tracks and roads, to allow for their maintenance. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Dunning and the County of Perth as shown in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto [redacted] is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

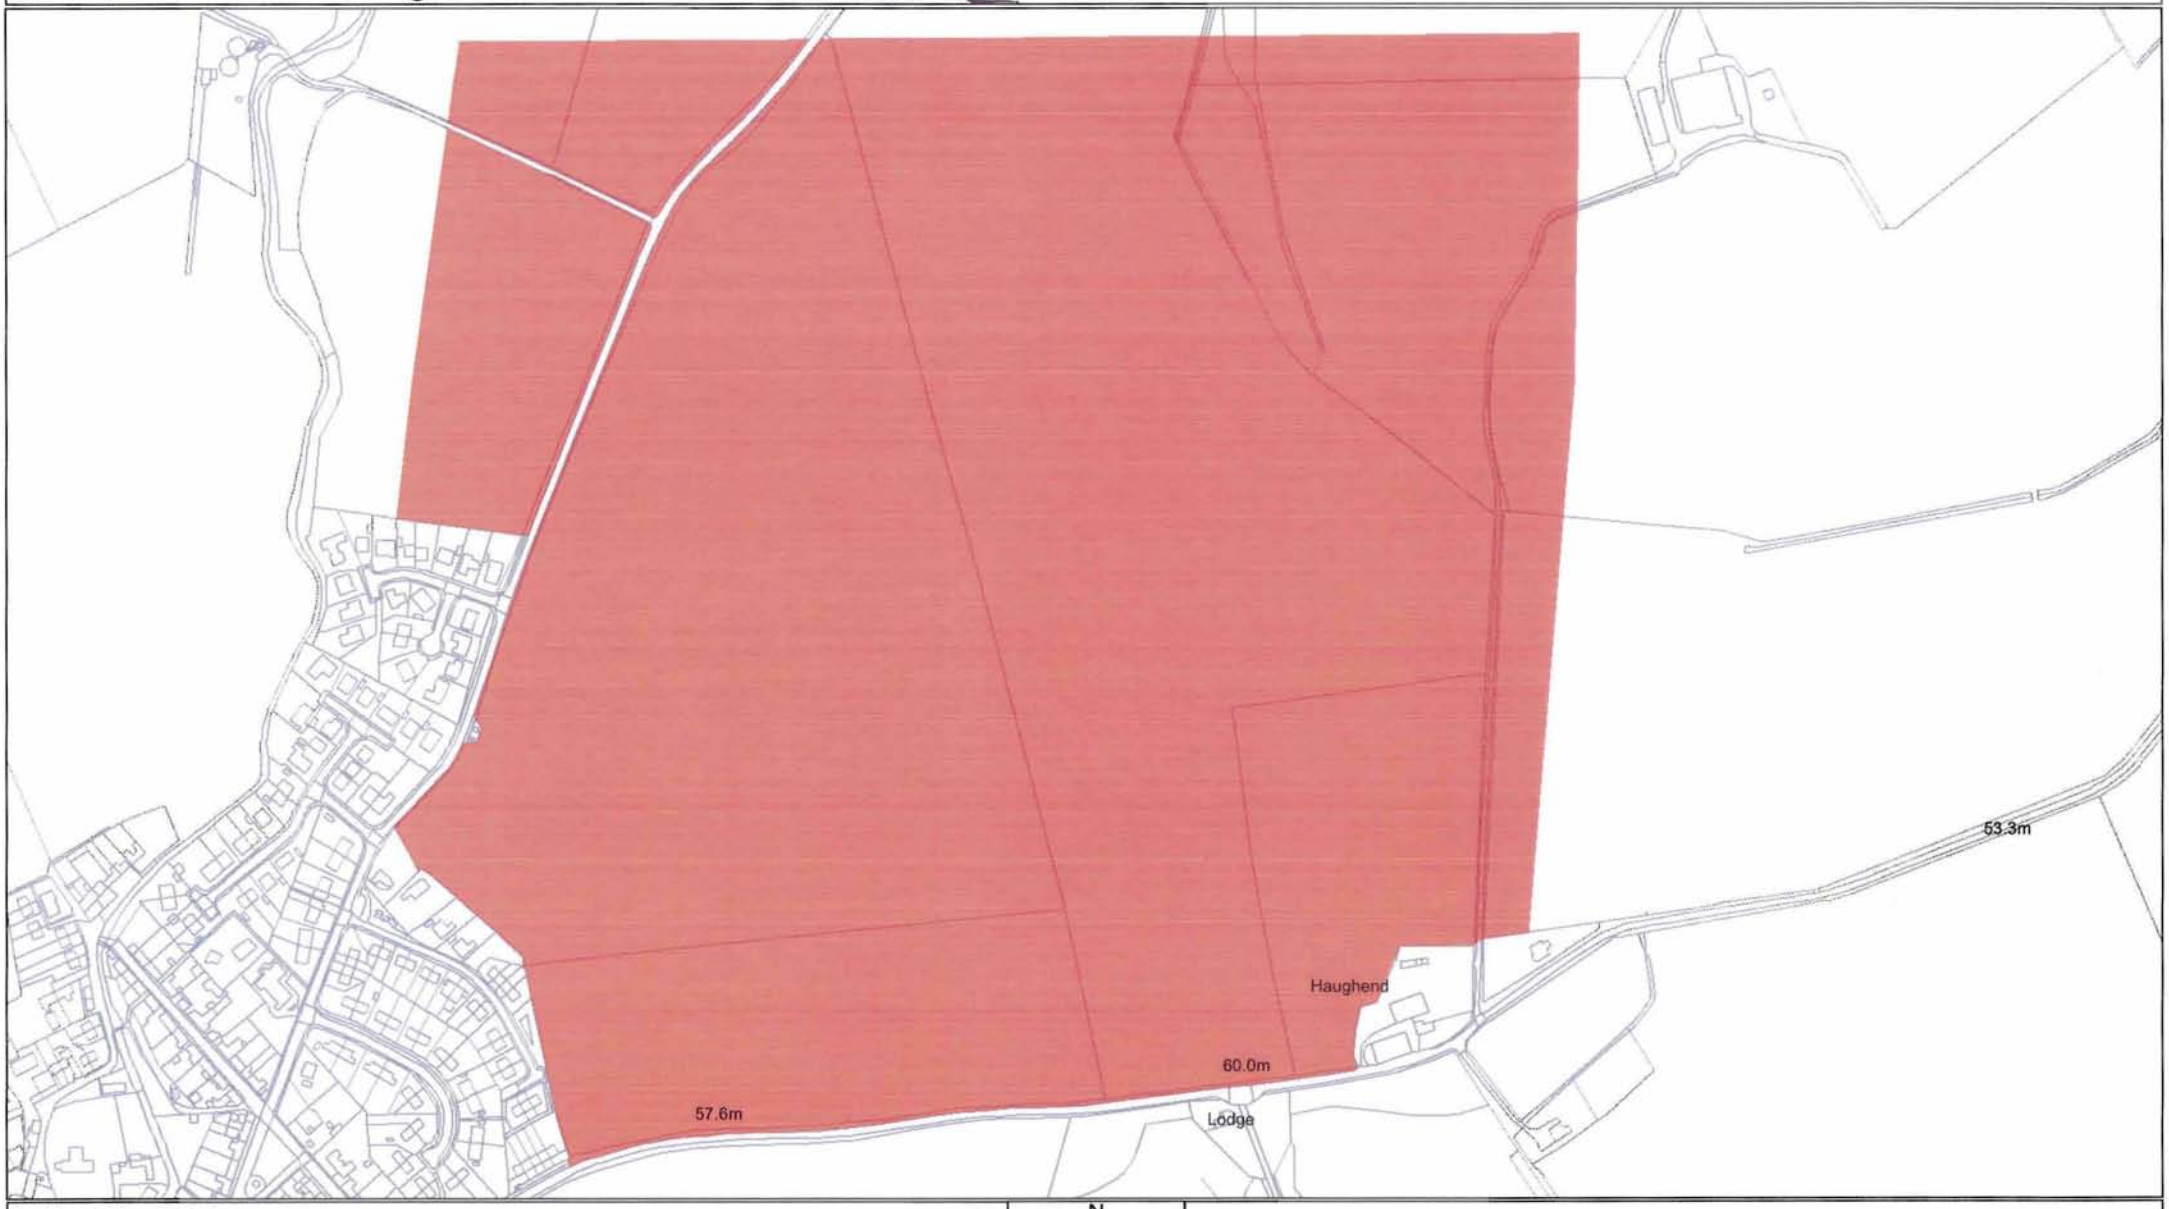

Subscribed by Malcolm Cooper, Chief Inspector with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 5 day of June Two thousand and nine, before this witness Luke Wormald, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
