THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979 3858
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Barr a' Chaistealain, dun and township 180m SSE of Oak Bank comprises the remains of a dun, a defended settlement likely to date to the Iron Age (between 500 BC and AD 500) or earlier, and a post-medieval deserted rural settlement. These features survive as earthworks and ruined, stone-walled structures in a clearing of rough grazing, surrounded by a conifer plantation. The site is located on a flat-topped ridge S of the Strath of Orchy, at around 95m above sea level. The area to be scheduled is irregular on plan and includes the remains described above and an area around them within which evidence relating to the monument's construction, use and abandonment may survive. Specifically excluded from the scheduling are the above-ground remains of all interpretation boards. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Glenorchy and Inishail and the County of Argyll as shown in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative [redacted] is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

This entry supersedes the entry in the Schedule of Monuments for the monument known then as Barr a' Chaistealain, dun 230m SE of Dalmally Station as referred to in the Certificate of Service of Notice by The Secretary of State for Scotland in respect of the monument dated 23 July 1976 and recorded in the General Register of Sasines for the County of Argyll on 6 December 1976.

Subscribed by Olwyn Owen, Head of Scheduling, Marine and Battlefields with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 19th day of March Two thousand and thirteen, before this witness Christine Kelly, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
