THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979 4034
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Tom an Iasgaire, fort comprises a prehistoric fort, dating probably from the Iron Age (between 500 BC and AD 500). The fort occupies the summit of Tom an Iasgaire, a conspicuous isolated hill at the NW end of the Pass of Brander, at approximately 185m above sea level. The fort is naturally defended by precipitous rocky slopes to the N, S and E, but there are faint traces of an enclosing wall around the less well-defended western and southern margin of the summit. The area to be scheduled is irregular on plan to include the remains described above and an area around them within which evidence relating to the monument's construction, use and abandonment may survive. Specifically excluded from the scheduling are the above-ground elements of an iron memorial and a relay transmitter box. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Glenorchy and Inishail and the County of Argyll as shown in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto and which forms part of the subjects described in the Disposition [redacted] is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

This entry supersedes the entry in the Schedule of Monuments for the monument known then as Fort at Tom an Iasgaire as referred to in the Certificate of Service of Notice by the Secretary of State for Scotland in respect of the monument dated 9 January 1979 and recorded in the General Register of Sasines for the County of Argyll on 24 January 1979.

Subscribed by Olwyn Owen, Head of Scheduling, Marine and Battlefields with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 10th day of May Two thousand and thirteen, before this witness Christine Kelly, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
