THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979 4273
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Annan Hill Roman camp comprises the remains of part of a Roman temporary camp. The camp survives as buried features and deposits and is visible as cropmarks captured on aerial photographs. The camp is sub-rectangular in form and originally measured about 146m from NE to SW by 100m transversely in total, enclosing an area of at least 1.4ha, but its eastern end has been developed for housing. The camp is located on top of Annan Hill at about 30 to 35m above sea level, with commanding views in all directions. The scheduled area is irregular on plan, to include the remains described above and an area around them within which evidence relating to the monument's construction, use and abandonment is expected to survive. The part of the eastern end of the camp now occupied by a housing development is excluded from the scheduling. The scheduled area also specifically excludes the above-ground elements of all post-and-wire fences, hedges and telegraph poles. It also excludes the above-ground parts of the stable, water tower and associated structures and pipework. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Annan and the County of Dumfries as shown in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto and which forms part of the subjects described in the aftermentioned deeds or registered in the Land Registe[redacted], is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

This entry supersedes the Entry in the Schedule of Monuments for the monument known then as Annan Hill, Roman camp as referred to in the Entry in the Schedule of Monuments by the Secretary of State for Scotland in respect of the monument dated 5 November 1996 and recorded in the General Register of Sasines for the County of Dumfries on 11 April 1997.

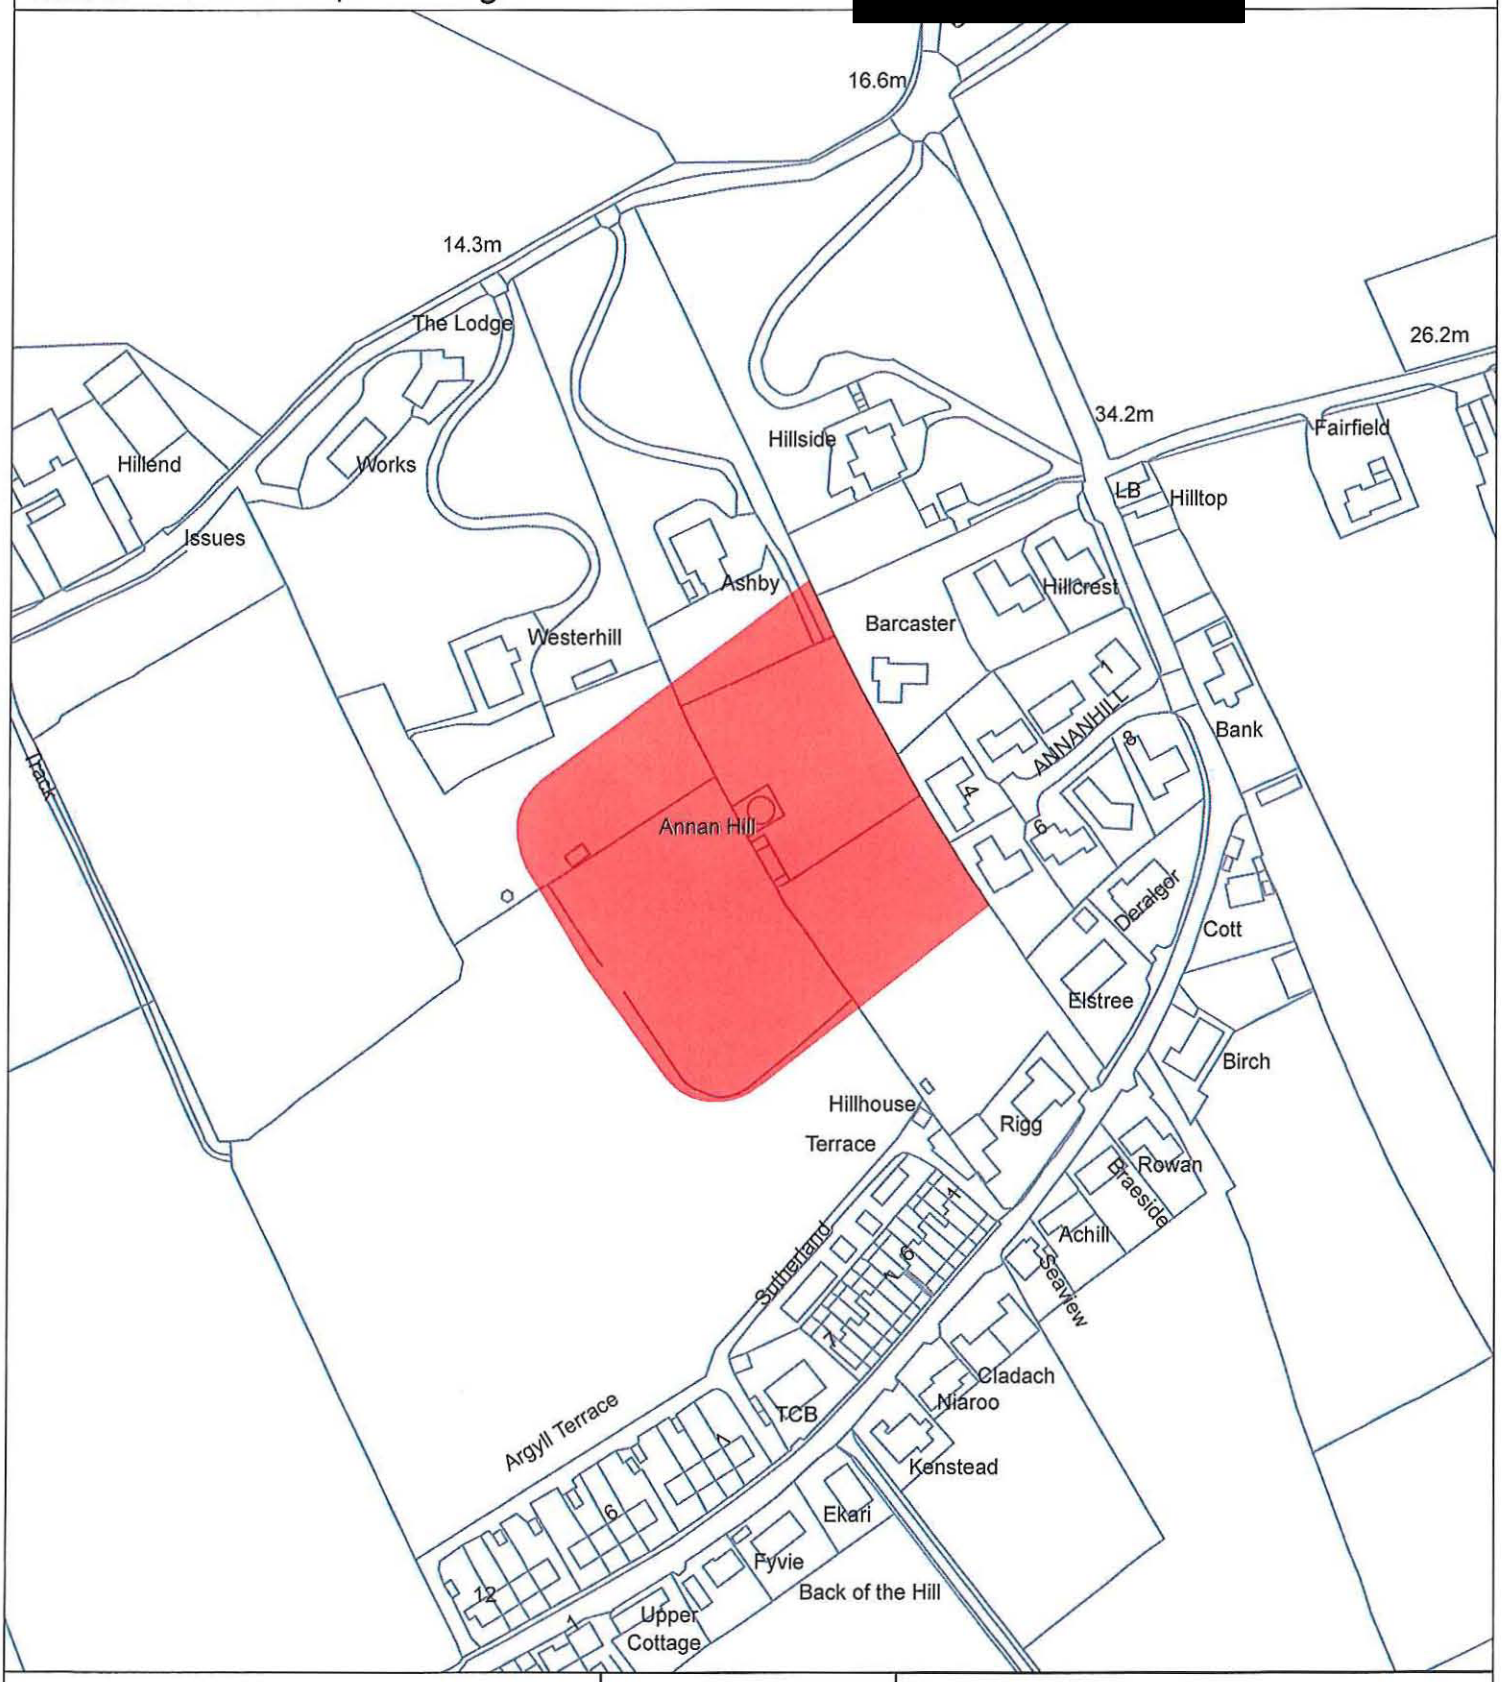

Subscribed by Olwyn A Owen, Head of Scheduling, Marine and Battlefields with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 16th day of January Two thousand and Fourteen, before this witness Christine Kelly, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
