THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as East Balloch, burial mound 500m W of comprises a burial mound of the Neolithic or Early Bronze Age, some 3500 to 5000 years old, situated on a low ridge in an arable field. It measures about 22m E-W by 25m transversely and is between 2m and 3m high above the surrounding field. It is built of a mixture of small stones and gravel. A shallow pit on the summit marks the location of a cist (probably a secondary burial dug into the top of the mound) excavated in the 19th century. The mound will cover one or more burials, lying on an area of contemporary ground surface, possibly associated with the remains of timber structures. Further secondary burials probably survive elsewhere near the surface of the mound. The area to be scheduled measures 50m in diameter, centred on the mound, to include the mound and an area around it in which traces of activities associated with its construction and use will survive. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Kirriemuir and the County of Angus as shown outlined in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto and which forms part of the subjects [redacted], is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Secretary of State for Scotland to be of national importance compiled and maintained by him under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

Given under the Seal of the Secretary of State for Scotland.
