ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as The Dun, fort 400m ESE of Tyndun comprises a small fort of the Iron Age, some 2000 to 2500 years old. It measures 34m N-S by 27m transversely within the tumbled ruins of a stone wall of indeterminate width. There are possible entrances on the W and E sides. Further defence is provided on the S side by triple ditches c0.4m deep and double ramparts c0.8m high, which begin on the edge of the natural slopes on the E and extend for some 40m westwards. The area to be scheduled measures 90m in diameter to include the fort and its outworks, and an area around in which traces of activities associated with the use of the fort will survive. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Dull and the County of Perth as shown outlined in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto [redacted], is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Secretary of State for Scotland to be of national importance compiled and maintained by him under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.
