THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Burnhead, scooped settlement and house 300m NE of comprises a scooped settlement of the Iron Age, over parts of which lie the remains of a house of the period before the agricultural improvements. The monument comprises a roughly oval enclosure with rounded angles measuring internally c68m NW-SE by 50m transversely, defined by a boulder-faced rubble wall, which survives in a ruinous condition. The interior falls a vertical distance of c15m and consists of a series of terraces excavated from the hillside. There are faint traces of houses in the interior. In the NW corner there are the remains of a pre-improvement rectangular building, connected to an apparently contemporary wall. The area to be scheduled is a circle measuring 100m in diameter (centred on the settlement) to include the settlement and an area around in which traces of activities associated with the two phases of use of the monument will survive. The fabric above ground of the modern dyke crossing the monument is specifically excluded from the scheduling. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Yetholm and the County of Roxburgh as shown outlined in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto and which forms part of the subjects
