THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979
AMENDED ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The entry in the Schedule of monuments appearing to the Secretary of State for Scotland to be of national importance compiled and maintained by him under Section 1(1) of the above Act in respect of the monument formerly called Cultybraggan, cairns 150m to 350m N of, henceforth to be known as Cultybraggan Camp, burial mounds 150m to 350m N of, dated 18 February 1991 and recorded in the Division of the General Register of Sasines for the County of Perth on 4 April 1991 is hereby in accordance with the provisions of section 1(5) of the above Act amended to describe the area of the scheduled monument as measuring contain the remains of 4 burial mounds of the late Neolithic or earlier Bronze Age, some 3500 to 5000 years old. The western most measures c 11m in diameter, is 1.4m high and is surrounded by a low wall, which may be a drystone kerb. Immediately to the NE lies the second mound, which measures c 24m N-S by 20m transversely and is 0.7m in height. It is also contained within a low stone wall which may be a kerb. To the E, lying between a field boundary to the W and a track on the other 3 sides, are the remains of the third barrow, which takes the form of a low mound with an ill defined boundary, set on a knoll the shape of which has been distorted by the dumping of field clearance. To the SE, in an arable field, lies the fourth mound which measures 14m in diameter and 0.6m in height. Four separate areas are proposed for scheduling. Each area is centred on one of the 4 barrows and all 4 areas are circular, measuring 30m in diameter, specifically excluding modern features such as the track, walls and existing field fences but including, the barrows and areas around them in which the remains associated with the use of the mounds may survive, as shown delineated in red on the plan annexed and executed as relative hereto.
