THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Brainport Bay, stone alignments and quern quarries comprises a site believed to have been used for astronomical observations, associated with a number of artefact quarrying sites, and comprises several elements: 1. The main alignment is a terraced platform, c.30m by 12m. Two small standing stones within the platform have been erected in modern times. Excavation has recovered prehistoric flints and an ironworking hearth, radiocarbon dated to the period ad 135 - ad 976. Some 50m NE of the platform a rock outcrop bears cupmarks at its E end and a quern quarry displaying rough-outs on its W end. To the SW of the platform there is a revetted outcrop with a bank behind. This outcrop may be related to the main platform, as may a boulder setting between the two features. 2. The Oak Bank alignment: 240m NW of the main alignment lie 2 cup and groove marked boulders, a recumbent stone and a quern quarry, spread over an area c. 60m by 40m. 3. A further alignment: 200m west-south-west of the main alignment an arrangement of standing stones and recumbent stones covers an area c.40m by 30m. 4. A carved stone: 300m north of the main alignment a rock outcrop bears patterns of incised lines on its top, south and west faces. It may have been related to a vanished stone cairn. The areas to be scheduled measure as follows: 1. 150m NE-SW by 60m; 2. 60m NE-SW by 40m; 3. 50m N-S by 30m; 4. 10m diameter. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Kilmichael Glassary and the County of Argyll as shown outlined in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto and which [redacted] is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Secretary of State for Scotland to be of national importance compiled and maintained by him under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

Given under the Seal of the Secretary of State for Scotland.
