THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as A'Chrannag, fortification, Islay comprises an earthen fortification, probably a temporary bastioned artillery platform, which is situated among the salt marshes at the SE end of Loch Gruinart. The site is traditionally associated with the battle of Traigh Ghruineard, fought between the MacLeans and the MacDonalds in 1598. The area to be scheduled measures 70m from N to S by 70m transversely, to include the fortification and an area around in which associated remains may survive. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Kilchoman and the County of Argyll as shown outlined in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto and which forms part of the subjects [redacted] is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Secretary of State for Scotland to be of national importance compiled and maintained by him under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

Given under the Seal of the Secretary of State for Scotland.
