THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979
AMENDED ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The entry in the Schedule of monuments appearing to the Secretary of State for Scotland to be of national importance compiled and maintained by him under section 1(1) of the above Act in respect of the monument known as Charles Hill, Monks' Cave storehouse, military camp and battery, dated 12 March and recorded in the Division of the General Register of Sasines for the County of Fife on 31 March both in the year 1993 is hereby in accordance with the provisions of section 1(5) of the above Act amended to describe the area of the scheduled monument as irregular in shape with maximum dimensions of 225m E-W by 300m N-S to include the Monks' Cave, the remains of the camp and the battery and an area around them within which associated remains may be expected to survive. This area is circumscribed by a line which runs in a clockwise direction from a point on the shore of Barnhill Bay along the line of the coast following the high water mark of ordinary spring tides to a point 20m SW of the SW corner of the Monks' Cave. From here it runs due S for 40m, parallel to and 10m out from the remains of the anti-boat boom and then turns SE for 50m, still running parallel to the anti-boat boom. It then turns SW for 20m before turning NW to run parallel to the anti-boat boom for 60m before running 40m due N, parallel to the anti-boat boom to reach the coastline once again. From here it follows the coastline along the line of the high water mark of ordinary spring tides for 170m before cutting across the headland in a N direction for 170m to meet the starting point as shown delineated in red on the plan annexed and executed as relative hereto. Excluded from the scheduling are the safety railings which fence off certain areas of the battery and the top 30cm of all pathways to allow for maintenance.
