THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979 6092
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Friock Mains, pit alignment 270m WNW of comprises the remains of a prehistoric pit alignment dating to the Iron Age or earlier (before AD 400). It also includes a ditch that appears to follow the same course as the pit alignment and two other curving features that may be souterrains. The remains lie buried beneath the ploughsoil and are visible as cropmarks captured on oblique aerial photographs. The monument lies at about 50m OD in undulating farmland surrounded by a bend in the Vinny Water, just above and parallel with the break of slope down to the river. The scheduled area is irregular on plan to include the remains described above and an area around them within which evidence relating to the monument's construction, use and abandonment is expected to survive. The scheduling specifically excludes the above-ground elements of all electricity poles and the overhead wires. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Kirkden and the County of Angus as shown in red on the Plan annexed and executed as [redacted] is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

This entry supersedes the Entry in the Schedule of Monuments for the monument known then as Friock Mains, enclosure and pit alignment as referred to in the Entry in the Schedule of Monuments by the Secretary of State for Scotland in respect of the monument dated 10 October 1994 and recorded in the General Register of Sasines for the County of Angus on 11 November 1994.

Subscribed by Olwyn A Owen, Head of Scheduling, Marine and Battlefields with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 20th day of October Two thousand and Fourteen, before this witness Christine Kelly, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
