THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979 6379
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Drylawhill, cursus and settlements 320m SE of comprises the remains of the western end of a ditch-defined cursus (a ritual monument resembling a sacred avenue) and at least two, superimposed, later prehistoric enclosed settlements, all visible as cropmarks captured on oblique aerial photographs. The cursus and settlements occupy an area of relatively level ground immediately S and SE of Drylawhill at around 20m OD. The scheduled area is irregular on plan to include the remains described above and an area around them within which evidence relating to the monument's construction, use and abandonment is expected to survive. The scheduling specifically excludes all post-and-wire fences, stone boundary walls and hedgerows for their upkeep and maintenance. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Prestonkirk and the County of East Lothian as shown in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto [redacted], is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

This entry supersedes the Entry in the Schedule of Monuments for the monument known then as Drylawhill, cursus S of as referred to in the Entry in the Schedule of Monuments by the Secretary of State for Scotland in respect of the monument dated 29 April 1996 and recorded in the General Register of Sasines for the County of East Lothian on 12 November 1996.

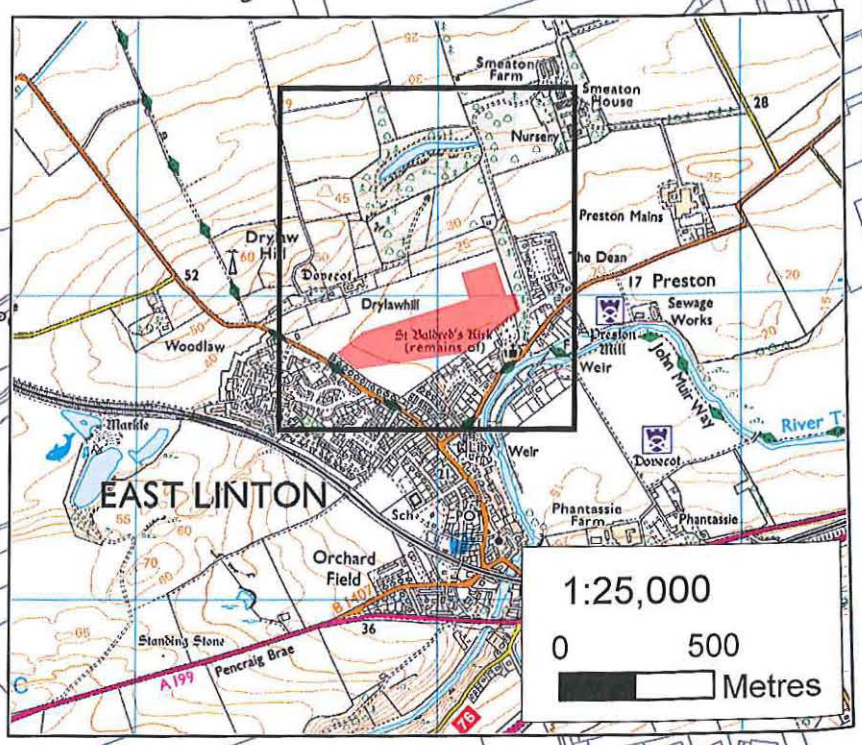

Subscribed by Olwyn A Owen, Head of Scheduling, Marine and Battlefields with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 13th day of December Two thousand and thirteen, before this witness Christine Kelly, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
