THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Bandirran, stone circle and standing stones 270m to 425m ENE of, comprises a prehistoric stone circle and three further 'standing stones' (although some of the stones have now fallen), probably part of a single ceremonial complex of the later Neolithic or early Bronze Age. The area to be scheduled comprises three areas. The largest, westernmost area, round the stone circle itself measures 50m in diameter, occupying most of a ruinous modern enclosure round the circle. The second, easternmost area, round the pair of standing stones measures 25m in diameter. The third, northernmost area, round the recumbent stone, measures 25m in diameter. All three areas include the visible remains and areas around them within which related may be expected to be found. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Collace and the County of Perth as shown outlined in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto and which forms part of hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

Subscribed by Frank James Lawrie, Director of Heritage Policy with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 15th day of November Nineteen hundred and ninety-nine, before this witness Lesley Macdonald, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
