THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Antonine Wall, Ferguston Muir to New Kilpatrick Cemetery comprises a section of the Antonine Wall which runs along the top of a ridge. The Antonine Wall at this location comprises the rampart, the ditch, the berm (area between rampart and ditch) and the upcast mound. The area to be scheduled measures a maximum of 298m from WSW to ENE by a maximum of 55m NW-SE, to include the Antonine Wall rampart, berm, ditch and upcast mound and an area around in which traces of activities associated with the construction and use of the Antonine Wall may survive. The WSW edge of the scheduled area is defined by a property boundary. The NW edge runs across open ground on a line 25m to the NNW of the north margin of the Antonine Wall ditch for 90m before joining the boundary of Ferguston Muir, which it then follows to the E. The E boundary of the scheduled area follows the W edge of New Kilpatrick Cemetery. The SW edge of the scheduled area runs 20m S of the S edge of the rampart, to include Roman-period deposits which are likely to survive in this area. The military way may also survive in this area. At its W end, the SW boundary of the scheduled area cuts back closer to the S margin of the rampart, to run only 10m S of it. The monument, which lies in the Parish of New Kilpatrick and the County of Dumbarton as shown outlined in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto

is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Secretary of State for Scotland to be of national importance compiled and maintained by him under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.
