THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

7742

The monument known as Antonine Wall, Dalnair to Seabegs Wood, including fortlet and camp, comprises a Roman camp and a section of the Antonine Wall with attached fortlet. The camp lies in the fields to the north and north-east of Dalnair Farm. The Wall runs across the northern part of the field to the north-east of Dalnair, and into Seabegs Wood. The area to be scheduled includes the camp, the Antonine Wall rampart, berm, ditch and upcast mound, the fortlet and an area to the north and south where traces of activities associated with the construction and use of the monument may survive. The scheduled area is in two parts: the part immediately to the north of Dalnair measures a maximum of 170m E-W by 230m N-S. The second part lies on the eastern side of a modern road, and takes in the western and northern parts of a large field. This L-shaped area measures a maximum of 150m E-W by 120m N-S. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Falkirk and the County of Stirling as shown outlined in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto [redacted] is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

Subscribed by Sheenagh Adams, Director of Heritage Policy with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 10th day of February Two thousand and five, before this witness Lesley Macdonald, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
