THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Kilmux Colliery, beam engine house, 630m SW of Kilmux House comprises the well-preserved remains of a beam engine house which served the small colliery at Kilmux from 1838. The area to be scheduled is irregular on plan with maximum dimensions of 50m N-S by 70m E-W to include the remains of the beam engine house and the associated features. The area is circumscribed by a boundary which, from its N-most point (at the junction of the track with the Lethan Burn), runs in a clockwise direction as follows: along the S side of the track for 100m to the latter's junction with the hedge which forms the field boundary running parallel to the A916; from here, along the N side of the hedge for 40m until that hedge meets the Lethan Burn; then following the line of the N bank of the burn for 70m to meet the starting point. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Kennoway and the County of Fife as shown outlined in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto [redacted] is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Secretary of State for Scotland to be of national importance compiled and maintained by him under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.
