THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Law of Dumbuils, fort comprises the remains of a fort of probable Iron Age date. The monument occupies the summit of a rocky knoll at the base of the Ochil Hills, overlooking the valley of the River Earn to the E. The fort is roughly egg-shaped, defined by a large stone and earth rampart on the N and E sides and defended by steep natural slopes on the S and W. At least one circular building stance has been recorded within the interior of the fort. The area to be scheduled comprises the remains described and an area around them within which related material may be expected to survive. It is sub-circular with maximum dimensions of 120m N-S by 170m E-W. The above-ground elements of the fence running within the S portion of the scheduled area are specifically excluded from the scheduling. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Forgandenny and the County of Perth as shown outlined in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto [redacted] included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

Subscribed by Frank James Lawrie, Director of Heritage Policy with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 23rd day of February Two thousand and one, before this witness Lesley Macdonald, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
