THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Govan, carved stones and Old Parish Church graveyard comprises a collection of 31 medieval carved stones in Govan Old Parish Church, and the graveyard S and E of Govan Old Parish Church from which the carved stones were recovered. Broadly, the surviving Govan corpus of carved stones comprises one sarcophagus, five hogback tombstones, two cross-shafts, two upright cross-slabs and 21 recumbent cross-slabs. At least 16 further stones, now missing, also seem to have been recumbent cross-slabs. The area to be scheduled comprises the whole of the graveyard and the 30 carved stones within the church. The area is irregular with maximum dimensions of 108m due N-S by 92m E-W. The church building itself and its fixtures, fittings and contents (with the exception of the 30 carved stones described above) are entirely excluded from the scheduling. In the graveyard, the top 30cm of deposits, including the surfaces of all paths and tracks, is excluded from the scheduling, as are the above-ground elements of the modern graveyard wall. Any lairs where burial rights still exist are also excluded from the scheduling. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Govan and the County of Glasgow as shown outlined in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto the [redacted] is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

Subscribed by Sheenagh Adams, Director of Heritage Policy with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 19th day of November 2003, before this witness Lesley Macdonald, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
