THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Eilean nan Damh, fort, comprises a fort of prehistoric date, visible as upstanding structural remains. Forts of this type are characteristic of the Iron Age (about 500 BC to AD 500). The area to be scheduled comprises the remains described and an area around them within which related material is likely to survive. It is irregular, with maximum dimensions of 49m NNW-SSE by 19m E-W. It is bounded on the south by a modern field wall, which is itself excluded from the scheduled area; and defined on all other sides by the foot of the natural cliff. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Kilfinichen and Kilvickeon and the County of Argyll as shown outlined in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto and which forms part of the subjects described in [redacted] is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

Subscribed by Sheenagh Adams, Director of Heritage Policy with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 20th day of March Two thousand and three, before this witness Lesley Macdonald, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
