THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979 10977
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Chapel of Brims, Hoy, comprises a low turf-covered bank forming a rectangular enclosure, aligned WNW-ESE, which is held to be the remains of a medieval chapel dedicated to St John. The chapel lies towards the western end of a second, larger rectangular enclosure, indicated by a much less complete bank; the larger enclosure possibly forming the precinct or graveyard wall. There are other less distinct surface features in the vicinity of the chapel; some may merely represent further enclosure or boundary walls while others appear to be the remains of buildings. The area to be scheduled is a circle 105m in diameter centred on the centre of the chapel, to include the chapel, the outer enclosure, the broad NW-SE bank and an area around the chapel in which evidence of prehistoric and Christian land-use and settlement and early-Medieval Christian burial practices may survive. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Walls and Flotta and the County of Orkney and Zetland as shown outlined in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto and which forms part of the subjects described in the [redacted] is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

Subscribed by Sheenagh Adams, Director of Heritage Policy with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 9th day of January Two thousand and four, before this witness Lesley Macdonald, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
