THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979 11474
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Clais Garbh, shieling group 1660m W of Groddie Cottage, comprises a well-preserved group of shieling huts and small pens of the later medieval to post-medieval period located amongst rock outcrops to the S of the Clais Burn at 500m OD. The site consists of a group of five huts and two smaller structures interpreted as pens. The sub-rectangular huts range in size from 3.3m by 3.1m to 8.7m by 4.6m overall and are defined by the footings of what have probably been drystone and turf walls. The wall footings typically survive 1.0m to 1.5m thick and up to 0.3m high. The smaller, sub-rectanglar and D-shaped pens have drystone walls up to 1m thick and surviving up to 0.9m high. The area to be scheduled is circular, centred on the centre of the shieling group, to include the shieling huts, and associated pens, and an area around in which evidence relating to their construction and use is likely to survive. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Logie-Coldstone and the County of Aberdeen as shown outlined in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto [redacted] hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

Subscribed by Malcolm Cooper, Chief Inspector with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 21 day of March Two thousand and seven, before this witness Victoria Ball, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
