THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979 11613
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Tullich, settlements 760m NNE of, comprises two pre-Improvement townships and the remnants of associated field systems which link them together, situated on a gently sloping hillside 760m NNE of Tullich farm. The monument lies in open south-facing rough grazing land at 330m above sea level, with an adjoining conifer plantation to the north truncating the land surrounding the settlements. Tullich comprises the remains of five rectangular buildings ranging from 7.6m to 14.9m in length, and from 2.6m to 4m in breadth, within faced-rubble walls up to 0.8m in thickness and standing up to 1.1m high. On a knoll to the SE are three pits, each 2m in diameter. A relict field system extends outwards from the township, associating Tullich with Garoline 200m to the SE. The SE township, Garoline, comprises the remains of four rectangular buildings, a small square building and a yard. Four of the buildings measure between 10m and 12.7m in length and between 2.5m and 3.8m in breadth, within walls up to 0.8m thick, surviving to a height of 1.4m. The fifth building measures 2.6m square, standing to a height of 1.4m, and is attached to a yard or enclosure. The area to be scheduled is an irregular polygon - defined to the NE and NW by the head dyke, to the SW by the dyke marking the outer edge of the former cleared land, and to the SE by an arbitrary boundary - to include the buildings as described above, a sample of their associated field systems, and an area around in which evidence relating to the construction and use of the townships may survive. The scheduled area includes the dyke forming the SW boundary, and dykes forming part of the SE boundary, but excludes the head dyke to the NE and NW, to allow for its maintenance. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Daviot and Dunlichity and the County of Inverness as shown outlined in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto [redacted] hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

Subscribed by Malcolm Cooper, Chief Inspector with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 16 day of August Two thousand and seven, before this witness Victoria Ball, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
