ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Blackyett, cairn 225m E of, comprises a mound likely to be a burial cairn dating to the Bronze Age. It survives as a substantial circular earthwork contained by a fenced deciduous plantation. The monument lies at 80m above sea level on the S side of the Kirtle water, one of the E watercourses feeding the Solway Firth. The cairn is 35m in diameter and 5m high. The area to be scheduled is a clipped circle centred on the centre of the mound, to include the mound and an area around it within which related material may be expected to be found. Specifically excluded from the scheduling is the top 300mm of a track running across the northern part of the scheduled area and all surrounding, later boundary features, to allow for their maintenance. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Dornock and the County of Dumfries as shown outlined in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto [redacted] hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

Subscribed by Malcolm Cooper, Chief Inspector with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 7 day of novembe Two thousand and seven, before this witness Victoria Ball, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
