THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979 12174
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Craiglea, ring-marked boulder 440m WNW of comprises a boulder bearing a single ring-mark or prehistoric rock art motif of likely late-Neolithic or Bronze-Age date. It survives as a shallow, elongated circular groove on the top surface of an isolated boulder, which is surrounded by rough grazing. The boulder is located on a NW-facing slope on the SE side of Strathdon at 175m above sea level, with a clear view to Bennachie 15km to the north. The visible portion of the earthfast boulder is roughly cube-shaped (0.6m wide by 0.6m long by 0.6m high) with a relatively flat upper surface. The ring-mark is centred on the boulder's top surface or panel and is clearly visible at a low oblique angle. It covers an area of 19cm by 18cm externally with the groove 6cm wide by less than 1cm deep. The area to be scheduled is circular, to include the remains described and an area around them within which related material may be expected to be found. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Midmar and the County of Aberdeen as shown outlined in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto [redacted] 1995 is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

Subscribed by Malcolm Cooper, Chief Inspector with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 19 day of Dec Two thousand and seven, before this witness Victoria Ball, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
