THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979 12345
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Gouk Stone, standing stone comprises a large single standing stone likely to date to the late Neolithic or Bronze Age. It survives as an upstanding monolith incorporated into a broadly E to W running stone dyke that separates two cultivated fields. The standing stone is located SSW of Hatton of Fintray, at 75m above sea level on N-facing, gently sloping ground above the southern river terrace of the River Don. The earthfast granite boulder measures 3m high by 1.3m wide and 1m broad. It tapers inwards from its base towards its top where it is roughly conical shaped. The area to be scheduled is circular on plan, centred on the stone, to include the remains described and an area around within which evidence relating to their construction and use may survive. Specifically excluded from this scheduling to allow for their maintenance are the above-ground elements of the adjoining stone dyke and a post-and-wire fence that runs parallel to the standing stone and stone dyke on the south. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Dyce and the County of Aberdeen as shown outlined in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto [redacted] is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

Subscribed by Malcolm Cooper, Chief Inspector with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 26 day of October Two thousand and eight, before this witness Luke Wormald, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
