THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979 12394
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Leucharbrae Farmhouse, cairn 235m NNE of comprises a neolithic or Bronze-Age burial cairn or barrow that survives as a tree-covered mound, the south-easternmost third of which is impenetrable owing to very dense conifers and birch. It is sited in an area of forestry and sits on a natural knoll at 90m above sea level. A shallow ditch is visible around the accessible part of the knoll's perimeter. The knoll measures 20m in diameter within the ditch, which is 2m wide. The cairn or barrow is 1m in height but appears taller due to its topographic location. The area to be scheduled is circular on plan, centred on the top of the mound, to include the remains described and an area around within which evidence relating to its construction and use may survive. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Skene and the County of Aberdeen as shown in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto [redacted] is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

Subscribed by Malcolm Cooper, Chief Inspector with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 26 day of septem Two thousand and eight, before this witness Luke Wormald, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
