THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979 12653
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Carriden House, Roman fort, annexe and settlement comprises a Roman fort associated with the Antonine Wall, its annexe and an associated extramural settlement with evidence of field systems. The complex survives entirely as buried remains, partially visible as cropmarks on aerial photographs. Further remains have been located through excavation and geophysical survey. Enclosing an area of approximately 1.4 hectares, the fort lies within the grounds of Carriden House and The Steadings, while the extramural settlement lies within an arable field immediately to the east of Carriden House. The area to be scheduled is irregular on plan, to include the remains described above and an area around them within which related material may be expected to be found. To allow for their maintenance, the scheduling specifically excludes the above-ground elements of post-and-wire and timber fences, boundary walls and walls with railings, and the upper 300mm of all paths, driveways and hard standings. It also excludes a gas storage tank and its associated pipework and all buried service pipes, as well as the ground immediately above them. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Bo'ness and Carriden and the County of West Lothian as shown in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto [redacted], is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

Subscribed by Deborah Mays, Director of Policy and Outreach with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 2 day of September Two thousand and eleven, before this witness Alasdair Young, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
