THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979 12737
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Kirkholm Hill, enclosure 500m W of Dinwoodie Lodge Cottage comprises the remains of an enclosure likely to date to later prehistory (most probably the first millennium BC). Aerial photographs show the buried remains of the enclosure ditch, indicating that the enclosure was subrectangular in shape with an entrance to the south. Ploughing has largely levelled the upstanding features although the N side of the enclosure ditch remains visible and is accompanied by a low internal bank. The monument is located on a prominent ridge of higher ground above the E bank of the River Annan at about 70m above sea level. Its E and W sides follow the contours of the ridge and it currently lies within improved pasture. The area to be scheduled is irregular on plan, to include the remains described and an area around within which evidence relating to the monument's construction, use and abandonment may survive. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Applegarth and the County of Dumfries as shown in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto and which forms part of the subjects registered in the Land Register of Scotland under Title No DMF3122 [redacted], is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

Subscribed by Malcolm Cooper, Chief Inspector with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 27 day of January Two thousand and ten, before this witness Mairi H Davies, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
