THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979 12824
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Burnbank Water, settlement 1,740m S of Hillside comprises the remains of four hut circles, probably of late Bronze Age or Iron Age date (late second or first millennium BC). Each of the hut circles is visible as a roughly circular structure of earth and stones. The monument is situated about 730m south of Laverock Stone. The hut circles lie in close proximity to each other, set almost in a row over a distance of around 225m. The area to be scheduled is irregular on plan, to include the remains described above and an area around them within which evidence relating to the monument's construction, use and abandonment may survive. It comprises four discrete areas centred on each hut circle. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Kilmacolm and the County of Renfrew as shown in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto [redacted], is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

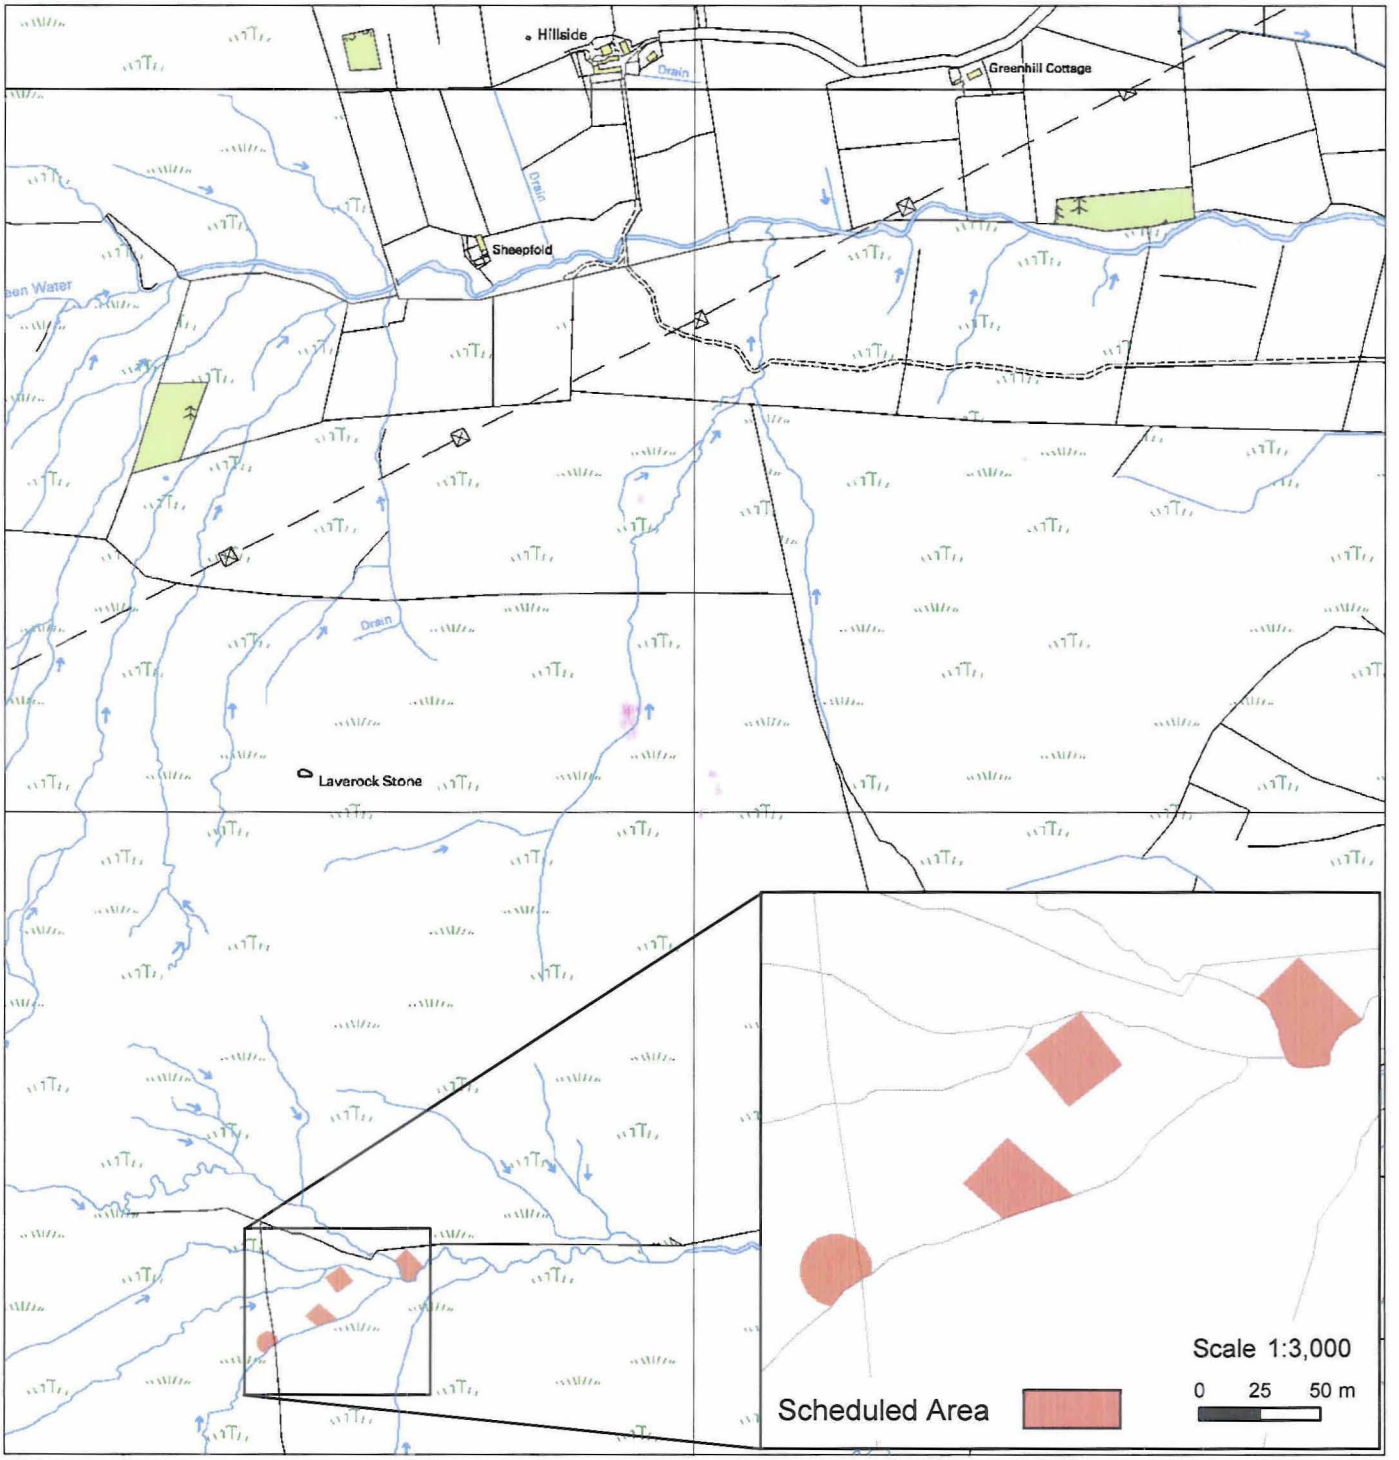

Subscribed by Deborah Mays, Deputy Chief Inspector with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 29th day of March Two thousand and eleven, before this witness Victoria Murray, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
