

THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979 12869
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Newstead Roman military complex, 660m WSW of Broomhill Farm comprises the buried remains of the Roman military complex at Newstead, which consists of: a series of four overlying forts; seven annexes which occur on all four sides of the forts; at least six camps; one bathhouse; and a possible amphitheatre. The monument consists of at least four phases of construction during two or more periods of occupation, which occurred during the late 1st and mid 2nd century AD. The character, extent and general layout of the site is discernible from cropmarks visible on aerial photographs. The monument lies on the S side of the River Tweed, below the hillfort on Eildon Hill North and to the E of the village of Newstead, at approximately 120m above sea level. The scheduled area is irregular on plan, to include the remains described above and an area around them within which evidence relating to the monument's construction, use and abandonment is expected to survive. The scheduled area extends up to, but excludes, all modern public roads and the properties of Broomhill farm. To allow for their maintenance, the scheduling also excludes the above-ground elements of all post-and-wire fences, telegraph poles and boundary walls, the top 300mm of all farm tracks, and the above-ground elements of all street furniture and signage. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Melrose and the County of Roxburgh as shown in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto

is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.
