THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979 ~~12486~~
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Horndean Church, church and burial ground comprises the ruins of a church dedicated to the Holy Rood. The first mention of a church at this location occurs in the 12th century. The church lies within a fenced enclosure at a height of around 40m above sea level. The site is situated at the head of a slope running down to a stream on the east and to the River Tweed approximately 400m to the south. The area to be scheduled is sub-rectangular on plan, to include the remains described. Specifically excluded from the scheduling are the above-ground elements of all burial monuments, as well as the above-ground elements of all fences and stone walls, and the wooden enclosures around the saplings to allow for their continued maintenance. Also specifically excluded from the scheduled area is a 3m x 3m burial plot, located towards the N corner of the burial ground and centred on NT 90505 49611. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Ladykirk and the County of Berwickshire as shown in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto [redacted], is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

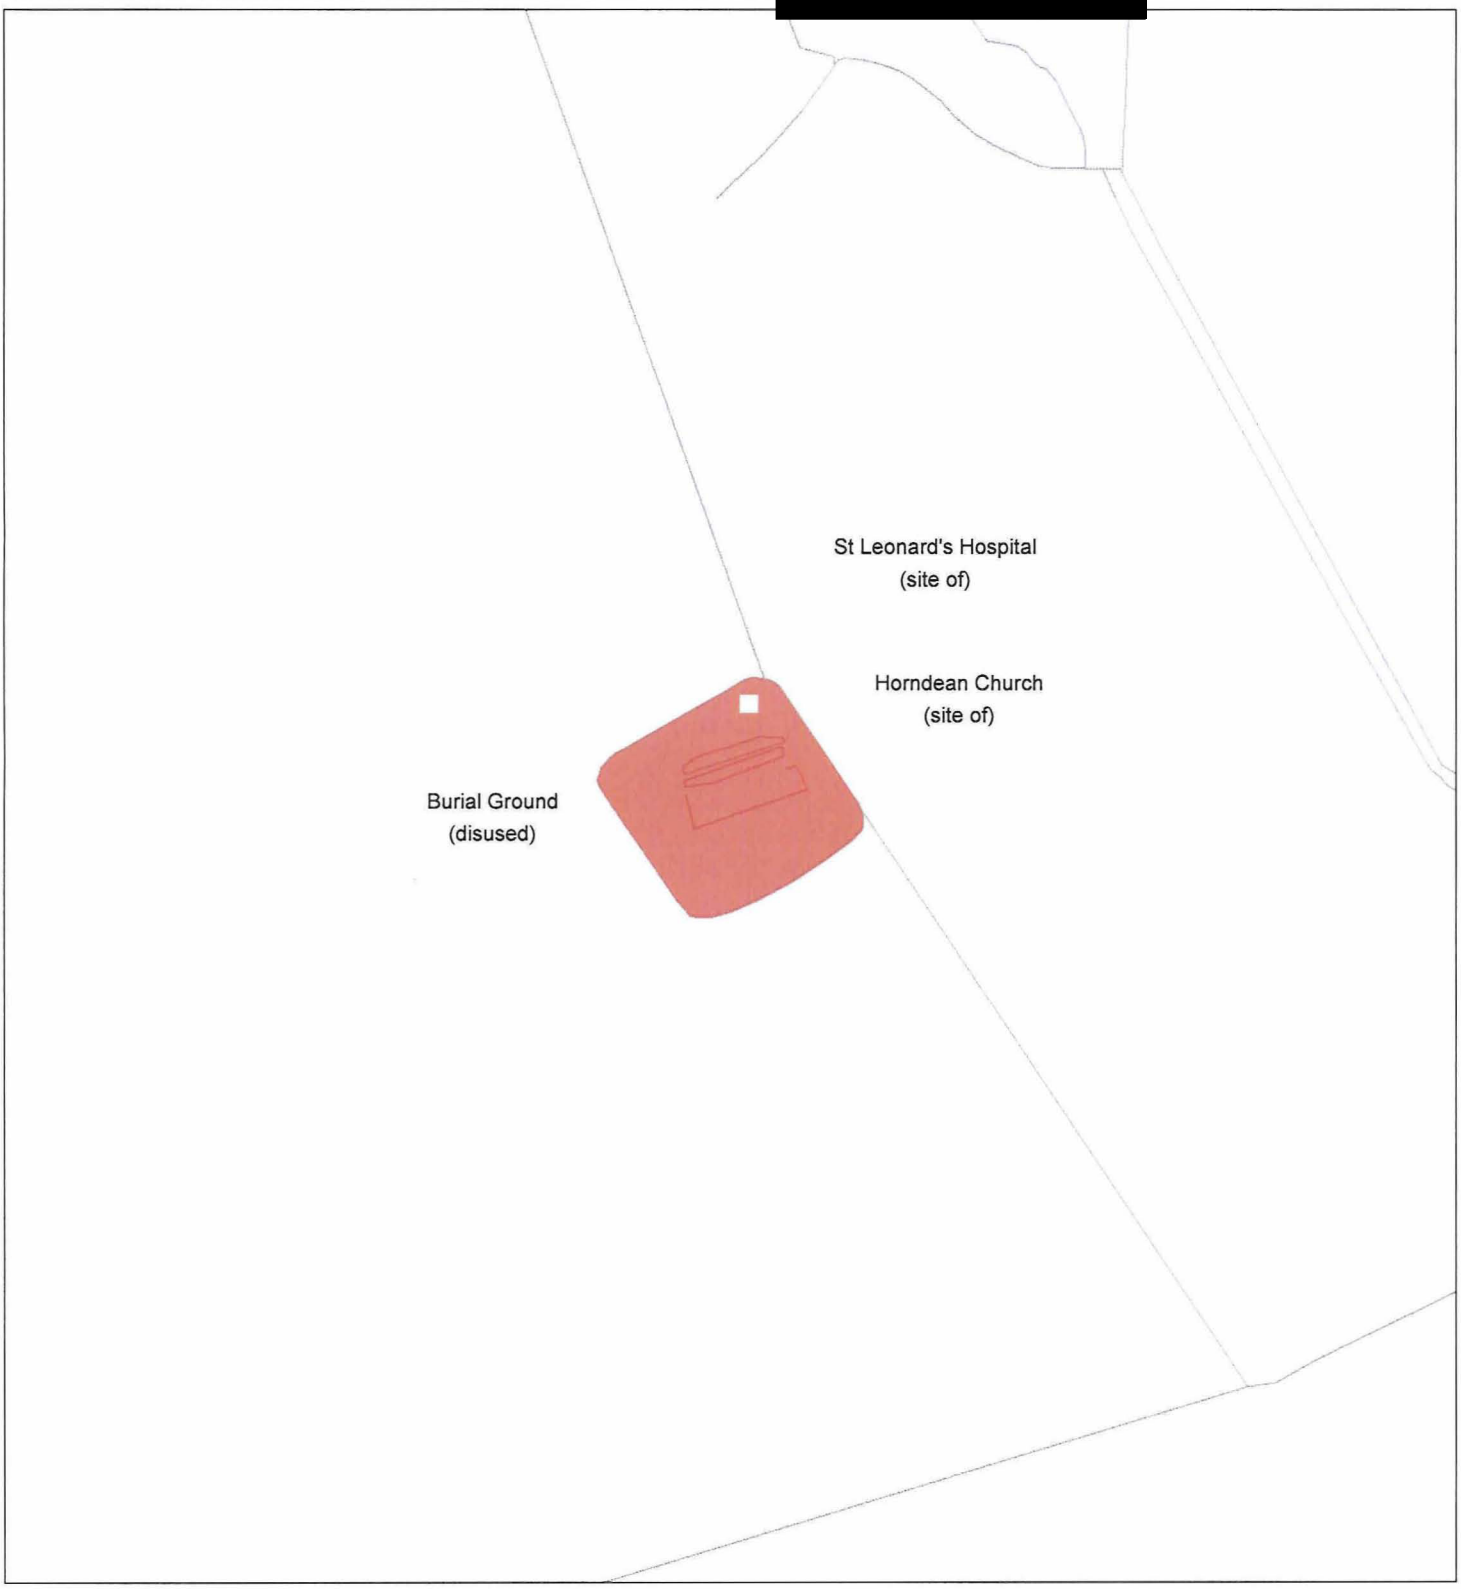

Subscribed by Deborah Mays, Deputy Chief Inspector with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 25th day of March Two thousand and eleven, before this witness Victoria Murray, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
