THE ANCIENT MONUMENTS AND ARCHAEOLOGICAL AREAS ACT 1979 13387
ENTRY IN THE SCHEDULE OF MONUMENTS

The monument known as Auskerry, standing stone 160m NW of Chapel Geo comprises a broken standing stone dating probably to the Bronze Age (third to second millennium BC). The base of the stone is earthfast in its original socket and measures 0.9m high by 1.7m wide by 0.15m thick. The upper (recumbent) part of the stone lies where it fell, immediately adjacent, and measures 1.15m long by 1.65m wide by 0.17m thick. The stone would have stood up to 2.4m high when erect, facing N-S. The stone stands at less than 10m above sea level on the E side of the island of Auskerry. The scheduled area is circular on plan, measuring 10m in diameter, centred on the centre of the stone. The scheduling includes the stone as described above and an area around it within which evidence relating to the monument's erection, use and re-use is expected to survive. The monument, which lies in the Parish of Stronsay and the County of Orkney and Zetland as shown in red on the Plan annexed and executed as relative hereto [redacted], is hereby included in the Schedule of Monuments appearing to the Scottish Ministers to be of national importance compiled and maintained by them under section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979.

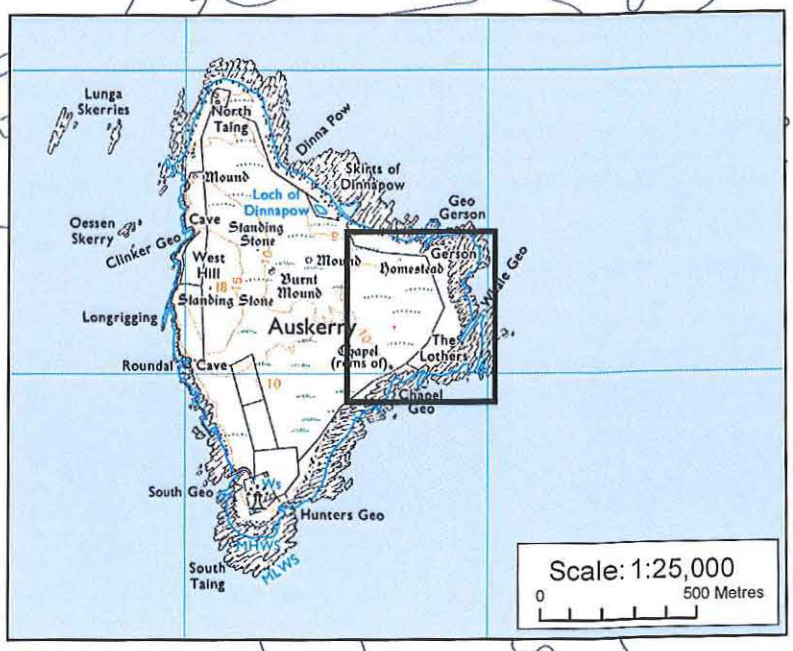

Subscribed by Olwyn A Owen, Head of Scheduling, Marine and Battlefields with Historic Scotland, being an officer of the Scottish Ministers at Edinburgh on the 11th day of December Two thousand and fourteen, before this witness Christine Kelly, of Longmore House, Salisbury Place, Edinburgh.
