The Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979

Amended entry in the schedule of monuments

Historic Environment Scotland in exercise of the powers conferred on it by section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979 hereby amends the entry in the statutory schedule of monuments as set out below.

The monument known as Meikle Reive, fort comprises the remains of a hillfort dating to the Iron Age (between about 800 BC and 500 AD). It is visible as a roughly oval enclosure defined by a turf-covered stone rampart. To the north there are a series of ramparts and ditches protecting the approach to the fort. The monument is situated on a knoll on the south face of the Campsie Fells at about 220m above sea level and has extensive views along the Kelvin Valley.

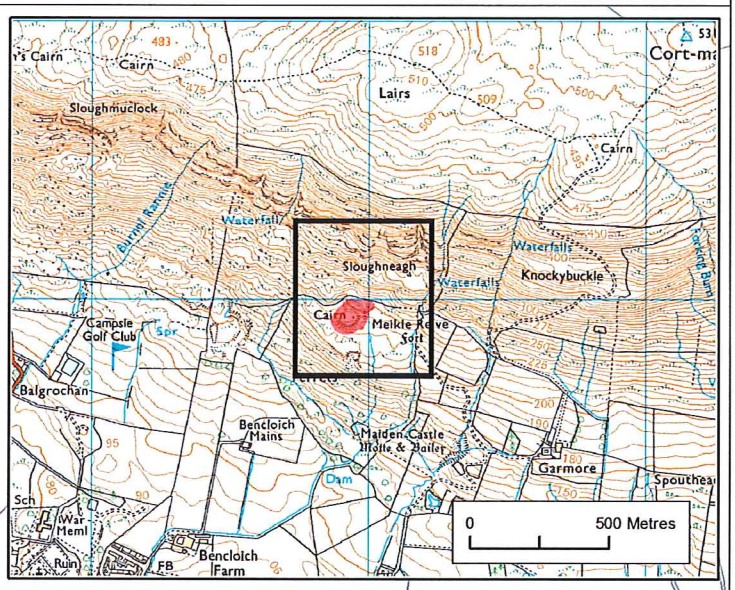

The scheduled area is irregular on plan, to include the remains described above and an area around them within which evidence relating to the monument's construction, use and abandonment is expected to survive.

The monument, which lies in the Parish of Campsie and the County of Stirling as shown in red on the plan annexed and executed as relative hereto.

This entry supersedes the Entry in the Schedule of Monuments for the monument known then as Meikle Reive Hill Fort as referred to in the Certificate of Service of Notice by the Minister of Works in respect of the monument dated 17 July 1959 and recorded in the General Register of Sasines for the County of Stirling on 30 July 1959.
