The Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979

Amended entry in the schedule of monuments

Historic Environment Scotland in exercise of the powers conferred on it by section 1(1) of the Ancient Monuments and Archaeological Areas Act 1979 hereby amends the entry in the statutory schedule of monuments as set out below.

The monument known as Garlieston, Mulberry harbour remains 2070m ENE, 1035m E and 1860m S of comprises the surviving elements of a Mulberry harbour, a prototype floating artificial harbour, which underwent sea trials near Garlieston in 1943 during the Second World War. The remains comprise seven floating pontoons and a stone and concrete plinth. All seven pontoons lie beached on rocks, with five situated in a small cove known as Port Whapple approximately 2070m east-north-east of Garlieston, and two situated about 1035m east of Garlieston. The stone base is situated on the shore at Rigg Bay, approximately 1860m south of Garlieston and 455m south of Garlieston House.

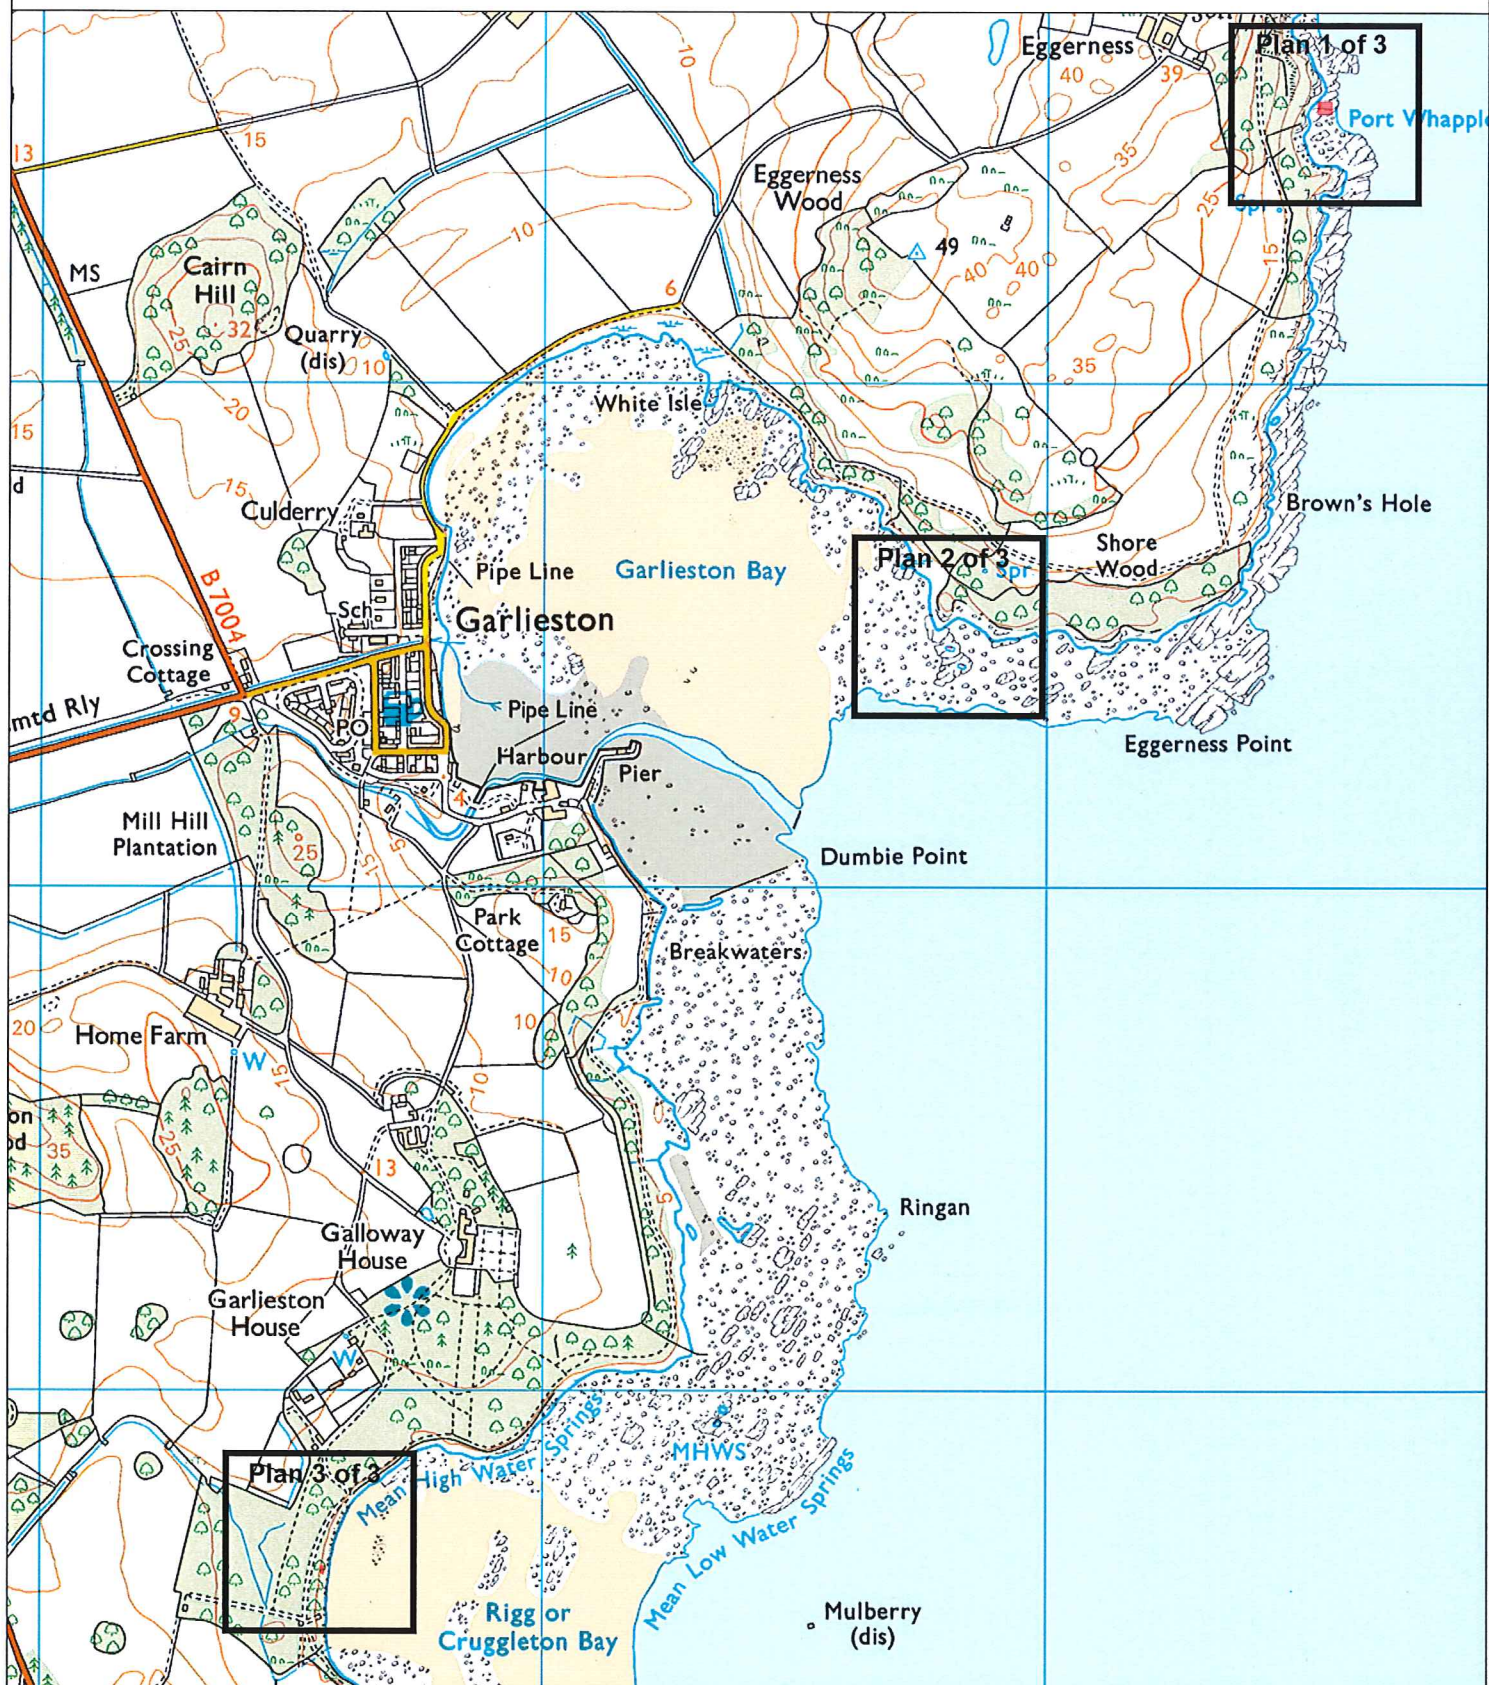

The area to be scheduled is irregular on plan, to include the remains described above and an area around them within which evidence relating to the monument's construction, use and abandonment may survive.

The monument, which lies in the Parish of Sorbie and the County of Wigtown as shown in red on the plan annexed and executed as relative hereto.

This entry supersedes the Entry in the Schedule of Monuments for the monument known then as Garlieston, Mulberry harbour remains 2045m ENE, 1035m E and 1860m S of as referred to in the Entry in the Schedule of Monuments by the Scottish Ministers in respect of the monument dated 26 April 2011 and recorded in the General Register of Sasines for the County of Wigtown on 8 June 2011.
